Blasting Ignited Pocket of Gas in Mine at Federal.

THREE SCORE ESCAPE

One Victim Intimates There Was Carelessness in Blasting—Children Scared.

RAPID RESCUE WORK

A blast that ignited a pocket of gas resulted in an explosion that killed four men and injured three others in the Chartiers mine at Federal station, on the Pittsburgh, Chartiers & Youghiogheny railroad, yesterday morning at 11 o'clock. There were 70 men at work in the mine when the explosion occurred, but all escaped except these men. The dead are:

WILLIAM NEILSON, 60 years old, mine boss, instantly killed; leaves a widow and three children.

JAMES NEILSON, 30 years old, track boss, instantly killed; leaves a widow and two children.

JACOB SAILOR, 45 years old, track boss, killed by suffocation; leaves a widow and three children.

JOSEPH SNUCK, 22 years old, driver, instantly killed; was single.

The list of injured follows:

CHARLES G. OTT, 45 years old, miner, badly burned; will recover.

JOSEPH PUIK, 30 years old, miner, Pole, badly burned; will recover.

STANISLAW POLASKI, 35 years old, a miner, Pole, burned; will recover.

CAUSE OF THE EXPLOSION.

The explosion occurred in a section of the mine which had been abandoned three weeks ago on account of a "dip" in the roof. Yesterday morning William Neilson took a gang of men to this section to blast away the "dip."

During the three weeks this section of the mine was abandoned considerable gas accumulated on each side of the "dip." Neilson had the men put several blasts in the "dip" and attached a fuse to it. When the blast went off the two pockets of gas ignited and the explosion resulted. William Neilson, his nephew, James Neilson, and Joseph Smuck, who were standing close by, were killed outright by the concussion. Jacob Sailor was farther up the heading, laying some tracks, and was suffocated by the smoke and dust that filled the place. Ott Fulk and Polaski were standing close to Neilson and his gang and were badly burned by the explosion.

EXPLOSION WAS A HEAVY ONE.

The explosion was accompanied by a tremendous shock. Instantly the hot air shot through the mine. It filled the mine entry and headings.

The miners at work elsewhere in the mine knew that an explosion out of the ordinary had occurred, and hurried to the side entries of the mine and there made their escape. Andrew Neilson, son of William Neilson, was running a motor car when the explosion occurred. The force of the concussion knocked him off the car. He got up, and jumping on another car, rode out of the mine uninjured.

The miners were greatly excited and were in doubt about the mine, supposing there was considerable afterdamp there. Charles McDonald, one of the oldest miners in Western Pennsylvania, finally started to form a rescuing party, and led some 20 men to the scene of the accident, which was about 1,200 feet from the entrance of the mine. Ott was the first man found. He was walked to a point where he could get some air and sat down. He was placed on a stretcher and brought out. The two Poles were found close by him and they were next sent out.

WHAT THE RESCUERS FOUND.

William Neilson and his nephew were found lying side by side, both burned and dead. Snuck was found farther up the heading. He was killed by the force of the burning gas. Sailor was found still farther up the heading, where he had died from suffocation. Within 10 feet of him lay the dead mule which he had charge of, which had also been suffocated.

As soon as the women and children of Federal realized that there had been a disaster in the mine there was great excitement. They hurried to the mine opening weeping and wailing. There was also a push of superintendents and miners from other near by mines, and in a short time over 5,000 miners had assembled, all of them ready to do what they could to aid in the work of rescue. As fast as the dead and injured were brought out on stretchers there was a crowding about and then a fresh outburst of woe from the women. Physicians were summoned from Carnegie, 6 miles away, and when they arrived the wounds of the injured were atended to.

MINE WAS NOT DAMAGED.

The Chartiers mine is an independent

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S MESSAGE BRINGS HANNA DOWN

NO DISCORDANT NOTE MARS HARMONY OF REPUBLICAN CHORUS AT CAPITAL

Selection of Candidates Only a Matter of Convention Routine.

ELKIN BOOM STARTED

Popularity of Indiana Plowboy Manifested in Greetings of State Delegates.

BRASS BAND AND RED FIRE

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
HARRISBURG, PA., May 26.

Never in the history of the Republican party of Pennsylvania has there been such absolute harmony as this which prevails the night before the convention. Factional feeling which has run so high the past few years has entirely disappeared. There are no enmities, no sore spots. Republicans are standing together, shoulder to shoulder, interested only in a reaffirmation of those party principles, responsible for our national prosperity and the election of the candidates who will be named by the convention tomorrow.

By acclamation the following nominations will be made:

State Treasurer—William L. Mathues of Delaware county.

Auditor General—William P. Snyder of Chester county.

Superior Court Judges—Judge John J. Henderson of Crawford county and Judge Thomas A. Morrison of McKean county.

As arranged tonight Fred W. Fleitz, assistant attorney general, president of the State League of Republican Clubs, will be elected temporary chairman. Speaker Walton will be permanent chairman, and Congressman Bingham chairman of the committee on resolutions. W. R. Andrews and Thomas H. Garvin, secretaries of the state committee, will act as secretaries of the convention. Other chairmanships to be decided are those on organization, credentials, and honorary vice presidents. The convention will be called to order at 10:30 and it is expected that it will be able to transact its business and adjourn by 1 o'clock.

ENTHUSIASM FROM TWO COUNTIES.

The delegates have all arrived. With the exception of Chester and Delaware counties, the homes of the candidates for treasurer and auditor general, there are few outsiders on the ground. Absence of excitement and uncertainty as to the result kept the usual crowd of shouters at home. Chester county sent a delegation of about 1,500, Delaware the same number, both arriving at 8 o'clock this evening. Headed by bands, their way illumined by red fire and rockets, the clubs, most of them uniformed, paraded the principal streets and cheered the candidates. It was the one incident which has relieved the monotony of preliminary arrangements.

Headquarters of the prospective nominees were crowded all day and the visitors expressed themselves as pleased with the men whom they will vote for tomorrow. Senator Penrose was also kept busy greeting old and new friends. Another place which seemed to appeal to the delegates was the headquarters of ex-Attorney General Elkin. Mr. Elkin may have said to have formally launched his gubernatorial boom today. He expects to succed Governor Pennypacker, and if the surface indications of today count for anything, he will receive the honor with as little trouble as the men who will be honored tomorrow. Friends of Mr. Elkin assert that he has been promised the support of Quay, Penrose, Durham and other leaders, and that all he has to do is to kill time until the convention of 1906. So Mr. Elkin is killing time, while his friends and followers join in the harmony chorus, alternately cheering for Pennypacker and the Indiana plowboy.

ELKIN MAKES STATEMENT.

Those who attended the convention of a year ago find it difficult to realize the change. Then it was war and all kinds of vendettas were sworn. Now feuds are forgotten and all is peace. Mr. Elkin is not a delegate. He declined to take any part in the convention proceedings, but his satisfaction with conditions he voiced in the following interview:

"I am pleased to see that harmony prevails in the party throughout the state. This means the continuance of Republican victories, and places the state in a position to assist in bringing about a national triumph next year. The overwhelming sentiment of the people of Pennsylvania is unquestionably for the re-nomination and re-election of President Roosevelt. The convention will tomorrow enthusiastically voice this feeling by unanimously declaring in his favor."

Some of the afternoon papers gave credence to an alleged interview in which

AN EASY TIME THIS YEAR.

UNDER 100,000 TONS OBTAINED

United States Steel Corporation Closes With Valley Furnaces.

BIG PIG IRON DEMAND

Prices Are $18.50 for Two-Thirds and $19 for Remainder of the Amount.

Reports that an over-production of pig iron existed, and that the United States Steel Corporation would be able to close with the Bessemer Furnace association, representing the valley furnaces, for a price of $18 a ton, were shown to be totally wrong by the outcome of a two-day meeting of that association in Pittsburgh.

The meeting ended yesterday, when it was announced that the corporation had been sold a little less than 100,000 tons. The amount said to be desired was between 150,000 and 200,000 tons, although this statement came from unofficial sources. Considerably more than 100,000 tons was expected, at any rate.

The price at which the pig iron was sold was $18 50 for about two-thirds of the amount, and $19 for the remainder, both prices being those quoted at the furnaces. Delivered in Pittsburgh, these prices are equivalent to $19 35 and $19 85, respectively. The statement of C. M. Schwab, quoted in yesterday's Gazette, that an agreement had been reached for the pig at $19 35, Pittsburgh, is carried out so far as two-thirds of the amount contracted for is concerned.

The demand for pig iron has been keener than all but those on the inside were aware of. The reports that $18 the ton would be all that would be paid had no effect upon those in close touch with the situation. It is said that the furnacemen could have secured a price of $19 for all of their output had they seen fit to enforce that demand. For various reasons the compromise at $18 50 was agreed to. All parties are satisfied with that price.

How strong the demand is can be known from the fact that one of the independent consumers yesterday closed a deal for a considerable supply at about $19 50 the ton at the furnaces. There still remain a number of the independent consumers who have not contracted for their supply, but have been awaiting the outcome of the corporation's negotiations. Just where their supply will come from now is yet to be discovered. They had figured on the price being much lower than the developments showed the iron to be worth.

The trouble over the coke supply is, for the present at least, a matter of history. Coke is moving freely and the furnaces are receiving their full quota. None are now banked on that account. The opening in June of the new joint Pennsylvania and Pittsburgh & Lake Erie into the Klondike region, about Brownsville, will add further to this relief. The coke men were so badly disappointed over the supply from the Frick Coke Company of the corporation that they had refused to deliver more than one ton of iron for each ton of coke.

VISIT TO SOOTHSAYER LED ASHBY TO KILL WIFE

After Interview With Clairvoyant He Accused Her of Unfaithfulness and Shot Her—Thought To Be Demented.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Wheeling, W. Va., May 26.—Led by a fortune teller to doubt the faithfulness of his wife, Samuel Ashby, an employe of the Cleveland & Pittsburgh railroad at Portland station, quarreled with her repeatedly and this afternoon brutally murdered her at their home on Williams Run, about 12 miles north of Wheeling. He had made repeated trips to Bellaire to consult a clairvoyant, and after each visit he accused his wife of infidelity.

Monday night he threatened her life and she left the house with her children and walked a mile to the home of a friend. Today he induced her to return by promising to take an oath of good behavior before a magistrate, and sent his oldest son to the office of the justice of the peace, to give notice of his coming this afternoon.

When the son disappeared, he renewed his quarrel with his wife. He whipped out a revolver and fired five shots into her body, pursuing her as she left the second story room to the road, where she ran several hundred feet before she fell. When her body was found, life was extinct.

In addition to the bullet holes, there was a gash in her head where the man had plunged a knife into it, and sent the blade clear through. Whether this was done before or after the shooting cannot be told, as there were no eye-witnesses to the murder.

At Connorsville Ashby told his friends what he had done, and said: "I had to do it." The murdered woman bore an excellent reputation and neighbors say there was absolutely no foundation for the suspicion of her deluded husband. Ashby had the reputation of being quiet and peaceable.

CUTTING DOWN SPEED AS SAFETY MEASURE

Lake Shore Railroad Taking Precautions to Prevent Accidents to Flyers.

CLEVELAND, May 26.—(Special.)—The bursts of speed that have been made by engines during the past few months has brought on a discussion in official circles of the policy of permitting such things to occur. The reports today were that the Lake Shore has issued instructions prohibiting fast runs.

The point is that the fear of disaster to life and property is making the railroads more cautious about running their trains so fast. The block signals are protecting breakdowns and wrecked trains from further disaster by head or rear-end collisions by these flyers, but even then the danger is great. Should one of these flyers get past the block signal and come upon the danger signal within half a mile of the wreck nothing could overcome that momentum soon enough to prevent disaster.

MILLION DOLLARS DUE PENNSYLVANIA

WASHINGTON, May 26.—(Special.)—The comptroller of the treasury has rendered a decision in favor of Pennsylvania in a claim against the government for nearly a million dollars. This claim is for interest paid on bonds issued by the state to obtain money with which to recruit and equip regiments for service in the civil war. The principal was paid by the government several years ago, but the bonds were not redeemed until long afterward. The interest due the state is about $620,000.

Arrested for Forging Name of J. P. Morgan.

LONDON, May 26.—An Italian believed to be Count Maurice De Bosdari, for whose arrest a warrant was issued February 13 in London on the charge of having forged the name of J. Pierpont Morgan for large sums of money, aggregating $150,000, has been arrested on board a French steamer at Alexandria. Extradition papers have been forwarded.

ROCKEFELLER FIGHT COSTS MANY MILLIONS

Sensational Explanation of Recent Declines in Security Prices.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, May 27.—The World this morning says: Wall street is discussing an amazing story of a war in the stock market between John D. Rockefeller and his brother, William Rockefeller, which has finally been patched up after a decline in stock values of several hundred millions of dollars.

By a peace compact arranged between John D. Rockefeller and A. J. Cassatt, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, the Western Union Telegraph Company will not be molested further, and Mr. Rockefeller becomes the largest subscriber to the $75,000,000 syndicate to underwrite the new Pennsylvania stock issue and the stock market fight ceases.

NEW YORK MUST PAY.

New York Jury Allows Plaintiff $1,560 For Killing of His Son.

NEW YORK, May 26.—(Special.)—In the supreme court this morning a decision in the first of a hundred suits against the city for heavy damages for loss of life by the horrible fireworks explosion in front of Dr. Parkhurst's church last election night, was rendered in favor of the plaintiff. It was the suit of Solomon Landau, whose 19-year-old son, George Landau, was torn to pieces by the explosion which killed 14 people instantly, fatally injured four others, and maimed nearly 100 more in the great crowd. Mr. Landau demanded $20,000 damages for the death of his son and got a verdict of $1,560 with interest.

In his charge Justice Truax said: "The question for you to decide is the amount of damages that the plaintiff is entitled to. I hold that the city is liable for the death of decedent, and I leave to you the question of how much damage the plaintiff has sustained by reason of decedent's death." C. P. GRENEKER.

STARK COUNTY FOR ROOSEVELT

Late President McKinley's Friends and Neighbors Go on Record.

FRIENDLY TO HANNA

Mean No Offense to Him but Insist on Indorsement of President's Candidacy.

SENTIMENTS OF LEADERS

FROM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Canton, O., May 26.—Stark county, the home county of President McKinley, within whose borders the beloved martyr lies sleeping his last sleep, wants Roosevelt for president next year. In the Republican convention last Saturday politics, instructions and the wishes of the leaders were cast to the winds and the party went on record for Roosevelt in 1904 so emphatically that there can be no backing out. Borne on a wave of enthusiasm for the chief executive who is known and admired by McKinley's neighbors, a resolution indorsing his candidacy and instructing the Stark county delegates to vote for an indorsement in the state convention swept the assembly off its feet. Unanimously adopted, unanimously approved by the representatives of every precinct and township in the county, it has met with just as unanimous approval from the rank and file of the party. And although the few days that have intervened since the convention have demonstrated that the action had a larger political significance than was at first supposed, yet there are few who would have that action reversed.

None would reverse the sentiment expressed, but there are some who feel that Senator Hanna's wishes and judgement in the matter could have been safely followed. The only regret that the Republicans of this county have is that they have been placed in apparent opposition to Hanna. For they are friends and admirers of the Cleveland senator and they would like to have pleased him, and if any of the Stark county delegates to the state convention break away from their instructions it will not be because they repudiate the sentiment expressed for Roosevelt, but because they feel it their duty to rally to Hanna's support when he is attacked by his political enemies.

ROOSEVELT WELL KNOWN THERE.

President Roosevelt is probably better known in Canton than in any city in the country outside of Washington or his own state. During the campaign of 1900 he spoke here, and on January 27 of this year he was the guest of honor at the banquet of the Canton Republican league. He was in attendance at the McKinley funeral and has made several other visits here, so that the people of Canton have come to know him very well. Consequently it was pleasant to them to read in the morning papers of the president's gratification at the action of the county convention on Saturday.

A. W. Agler, Republican county chairman, is one of the state delegates and he says he thinks the Stark county delegation will carry out their instructions. Said he: "The action of the county convention indorsing President Roosevelt's candidacy and in instructing the Stark county delegates to vote for such indorsement in the state convention was merely the manifestation of the sentiment in favor of Roosevelt that prevails in this county. This action was taken without reference to the views of Senator Hanna or Senator Foraker. It was the unanimous sense of the convention and I believe the delegates will faithfully carry out their instructions in the state convention.

Senator Gracefully Withdraws Opposition to Complete Indorsement.

HARMONY NOW RULES

Ohio Republican State Convention Will Pass Off Without the Expected Conflict.

SENATOR FORAKER HAPPY

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Cleveland, May 26.—"I am in receipt of a telegram from President Roosevelt which indicates to me his desire to have the indorsement of the Ohio Republican state convention of his administration and candidacy. In view of this I shall not oppose such action by the convention and I have telegraphed the president to that effect."

Late this afternoon Senator Hanna gave out the foregoing statement, which puts an end to the controversy that has been in progress during the last two weeks over the question of the Republican state convention at Columbus next week indorsing Mr. Roosevelt for the Republican presidential nomination in 1904.

There is now no doubt as to what the action of the state convention will be next week. President Roosevelt's administration will be commended and he will be indorsed for the Republican presidential nomination to be made next year.

Not only does Mr. Hanna's statement close the controversy, so far as the indorsement of President Roosevelt is concerned, but it emphasizes and confirms the senator's repeated declaration, during the last year or more that he is not and will not be a candidate for the presidential nomination himself in 1904.

NOT INFLUENCED BY FORAKER.

Senator Hanna's statement was in no way influenced by the interview and statements of Senator Foraker. The senator took the action he did practically at the request of President Roosevelt, and Mr. Hanna's statement, given as it is on request, apparently demonstrates beyond all question his friendliness to the president. In the opinion of Senator Hanna it was not in any sense a question of whether or not Mr. Roosevelt should be nominated for president next year; it was merely a question of the propriety of the Ohio Republican state convention taking action this year on this subject.

WASHINGTON, May 26.—When Senator Foraker tonight was shown Senator Hanna's statement he said:

"It has seemed to me from the first that it was most important that Ohio should declare for President Roosevelt at this time. Not to do so would have been a conspicuous omission. The sentiment of the people of the state, and certainly of the Republicans, is for him, and why, if this is so, should we hold our hands over our mouths for fear we should commend the president? We shall approve of the administration of President Roosevelt, and declare ourselves in favor of his candidacy before the national convention next year.

NO DOUBT ABOUT IT.

"I do not know now just what form or language the declaration will take, but that will be attended to in due time, and the strength and sincerity of it will be beyond any question. The more than ordinary importance of this action by the Republicans of Ohio comes from the fact that the convention will probably decide the action of the national convention next year, as the delegates from Ohio, together with those from the states that have already declared for him, will constitute a majority of the national convention.

"This will settle at once all questions as to the candidacy of the president, and no other candidate will have the hardihood to permit himself to be considered. I think that this result is in complete accord with the sentiment of Republicans not only in Ohio, but everywhere, and I must say once more that I am highly gratified by it. I do not think we shall any of us have any regrets that the matter has turned out in this way and if there was any difficulty or any personal differences they are all at an end."

Postmaster General Payne was highly

ITALIANS FIGHT DUEL IN A BILLIARD ROOM

Two unknown men, supposed by the Allegheny police to be Italian thieves, caused a lot of excitement yesterday afternoon in Dalzell's poolroom, in East Lacock street, by drawing revolvers and firing across a billiard table at each other. The duel occurred shortly before 3 o'clock, when most of the tables were in use, and when the battle started every man in the room either fled to the street or got under a table to avoid being struck by a flying bullet.

One man was shot through the arm and his grasp on his revolver loosened and it fell to the floor. The other man is said by the spectators to have been hit in the side, as when the firing ceased he, with his companion, ran out of the place holding his hand to his right side. They ran out Lacock street toward Sandusky street, and it is supposed they crossed the Seventh street bridge to Pittsburgh.

According to the story told to the police, the men entered the place and started a game of billiards. A quarrel was started over a bet the men had on the game, and almost before anyone realized what the trouble was both had their revolvers out and were firing. The fusillade caused a panic, and in a few seconds not a man was visible in the room except the two. The one that was hit in the arm dropped his weapon and immediately both ran out the door.

The fact that one of them was shot is substantiated by the fact that blood was found on the floor beside the table at which the two had been playing.

"The extension of the Wabash to New York," he said, "will come in time. When I say New York, I mean our tidewater terminal. That is where we are aiming for."

"Will you come over your own rails?" he was asked.

"If we don't we won't come at all," he replied. "We would not care to enter into trackage agreements with any other line. You see the Wabash is still young, even if it only has or will only have a mileage of about 4,000. We are only carrying out President Cassatt's plan," he added with a smile, alluding to the recent interview of that official, in which he is reported to have said that the Pennsylvania lines would be duplicated. By duplicating his road for him we will save him the trouble." Becoming more serious, he said:

"President Cassatt is perhaps right in saying that his road will have to be duplicated. It sounds reasonable when it is considered that the main line east of Pittsburgh last year earned $149,300 per mile."

President Ramsey said tonight that as far as he knew there had been no truce made between the Goulds and the Pennsylvania. He was not inclined to criticise the action of President Cassatt in ordering the wanton destruction of the Western Union poles and wires, although it was easy to gather from his remarks that it was looked upon as rather childish.

THE RAZING OF WIRES.

"The Pennsylvania railroad is a large and powerful corporation," he said, "but it cannot afford to be testy. No railroad can. The Western Union was not expecting such treatment. It had been determined, however, that in the event of an unfavorable decision on the part of Judge Buffington to appeal the case. The Western Union was then expecting to have its wires cut in Pennsylvania, but never such treatment."

President Ramsey denied that the Pennsylvania stocks are being manipulated by interests friendly to the Goulds. He said he saw no reason for this. As for the underwriting of the $75,000,000 stock by the Kuhn-Loeb-Speyer syndicate he said: "Of course the Pennsylvania has always had a great deal of pride in such matters and has been able to place its own stock, but I suppose the outlook was very blue and it was considered best to have some one else place the stock."

Concerning the Wabash bridge across the Allegheny he said that no decision had yet been made by the government and he supposed that the Wabash could be kept out of Allegheny because a certain class of people persist in wanting something that is absolutely unreasonable. He took occasion to condemn most bitterly the bridge-raising project. Freight will be taken out of Pittsburgh by the Wabash he said, by the close of 1904. He would not say how the upper Monongahela river plants would be reached further than by two routes—one from the Mt. Washington tunnel and the other by a belt line down Streets run.

REORGANIZATION COMING.

The entire Wabash system will likely soon be reorganized to place it on an operating basis similar to the Pennsylvania lines east and west of Pittsburgh. Active steps have been begun for the formation of a company to operate the lines in Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia, and a second company will be formed to operate the Western Maryland and Little Kanawha. Both of these companies will ultimately be merged and will be designated as the lines east of Toledo. At Toledo the Wheeling and Lake Erie connects with the Wabash.

The Wabash is also arranging for the immediate placing of $4,000,000 of the $10,000,000 bond issue for terminal improvements in St. Louis, which will consist of freight facilities, and the cross-town road at Toledo.

The completion of the lines east will bring the mileage of the Wabash to over 4,000, or about 3,000 less than the Pennsylvania's; and when this is done it is estimated that the gross earnings per mile will be increased from $8,000, which is the present figure, to at least $12,000, or $5,000 above the standard of United States railroads.

Details as to the absorption of the Ohio, Pennsylvania and Virginia railroads have not been completed. The nucleus of the organization will naturally be the Wheeling & Lake Erie, which at present has its own officers, and the Pittsburgh, Carnegie & Western. The Greene county road and the Pittsburgh, Toledo & Western, as well as the Pittsburgh, Lisbon & Western, and other lines building in these states will also be included. The Pittsburgh, Lisbon & Western, it is said, will be taken over by the Wheeling & Lake Erie. Through this road it is expected to effect an entrance to New Castle and the lakes.

NO REMOVAL OF HEADQUARTERS.

The complement of officers of the Wabash will be considerably increased and all business of the vast system handled presumably at St. Louis. There seems to be no likelihood of the removal of headquarters to Pittsburgh or to Toledo. In view of the pending arrangement the headquarters of the Wheeling & Lake Erie will not be moved. Pittsburgh is regarded as the natural center of the dividing line of the eastern and western lines, although it has not been decided where the division will be. The Wabash organization will be almost a duplicate as far as management is concerned of the Pennsylvania railroad and the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburgh.

The Ohio, Pennsylvania and Virginia lines now in course of construction or in contemplation, have been organized and financiered by men not directly connected with the Wabash proper, although it has been understood that they were being built or would be for the purpose of affording the Wabash a tidewater line. The chartering of so many companies was necessary in order to obtain franchises and rights of way in the states they traverse. The various syndicates, such as the Pittsburgh and Toledo syndicates, will now give way to a central company, which will take over the charters and franchises and operate them to the best interest of the Wabash.

The issue of $4,000,000 worth of bonds will be placed with a New York firm of brokers and the money realized therefrom will be used at once for better facilities at St. Louis and the construction of a union station at Toledo and the cross town line. An official of the company said tonight that the bonds would be underwritten within the next 30 days.

SHORT SESSION OF STATE COMMITTEE

Roll Was Called and Motion for Adjournment Was Carried.

MESSAGE FROM QUAY

Retiring State Chairman Thanks Members for Their Good Work—Andy Robertson Loses His Shoes.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, HARRISBURG, PA., May 26.

The calling of the roll and the adoption of a motion to adjourn was the extent of the business transacted by the Republican state committee tonight. The meeting was in perfect harmony with the dull and uninteresting event of yesterday and today. A year ago the state committee was in session over six hours and every minute of the time was interesting. Tonight about two-thirds of the members were present. Chairman Quay was absent and Secretary W. R. Andrews presided. He read a message from the senator in which the retiring chairman thanked the members for their good work.

Secretary Thomas H. Garvin called the roll and the first man to answer was John P. Elkin, who occupied a seat in the rear of the hall. Senator Boies Penrose did not attend. After the roll call Chairman Andrews asked if there was any business to be brought before the committee. There was a silence of a minute, when Max G. Leslie broke the monotony by moving to adjourn. His proposition was accepted as a happy suggestion.

The Allegheny county delegation reached Harrisburg early this morning and had it not been for the coming of these western Republicans, Harrisburg would have been without excitement. Col. Andy Robertson broke the dullness, and it was not his fault. The Pittsburghers had their Pullman cars put on a sidetrack this morning and some of the delegates rose early and others late. The colonel took a long sleep and the car was run away down in the yards while he slumbered. When he was ready to go to the hotel his shoes were missing. The handsome colonel was forced to walk over a half mile of cinders in his stocking feet.

SHOES FOUND IN CAR.

When he reached the railway station a cab carried him to a shoe store. Even tonight he cannot see why so many men found cause for merriment in his predicament. This evening the station master brought the shoes in the Commonwealth hotel. They had been found on the car.

The Allegheny delegation held a caucus this evening. Charles A. Muehlbronner presided and W. W. Murray was secretary. For the first time in eight years delegates are working together. The following state committeemen were decided upon: Forty-second district, Charles A. Muehlbronner and Richard M. Kopp; Forty-third, Arch Mackrell and Senator W. A. Magee; Forty-fourth, George A. Chalfant and David Hardy; Forty-fifth, Joseph G. Armstrong and R. F. Bigham. In the Forty-second district John R. Murphy and S. C. Grier had been the state committeeman for a number of years. In the Forty-third Thomas G. McClure and Dr. J. Guy McCandless have retired because they have removed from the district. Joseph Armstrong is a successor of W. J. Rhulandt.

The following are the Allegheny selections for committees in tomorrow's convention:

Oragnization—Charles Hetzel, William Hunter, John Flowers and Miles Bryan.

Resolutions—James W. Dickson, John S. Lamble, A. C. Robertson and John W. Crawford.

Vice presidents—George Schad, Adolph Edlis, William Nagle and E. C. Vierheller.

Honorary secretaries—John C. Kaiser, Henry Godfrey, H. I. Hiley and C. C. Williams.

ONE COLORED DELEGATE.

Jerry M. Heasley guarded the door of the caucus room. There is one man here who is really happy that he is in Harrisburg. He is Joseph Bell of Mt. Pleasant, Westmoreland county, an ex-slave, who enjoys the distinction of being the only colored delegate in this convention. It is his first state convention and he thinks that this is the real thing.

There will be no trouble securing admission to the convention tomorrow. Aside from the Snyder and Mathues rooters from Chester and Delaware, there are very few visitors here. Tonight 80 assistant sergean's-at-arms and doorkeepers were appointed. This will help to swell the crowd.

BOY GROUND TO DEATH UNDER TRACTION CAR

Run Down While Playing in Butler Street—Four More Sudden Deaths.

Scores of persons witnessed the violent death of little Herman Kress, the 7-year-old son of John Kress of No. 249 Thirty-seventh street, last night in front of Alderman Samuel F. Kerr's office, Butler street. The boy was run over by a Sharpsburg and Aspinwall street car, city bound, and was terribly mangled. Death was instantaneous.

With several playmates the child was running across the street. When in the middle of the track he turned and saw the car and stopped short as if to turn back. The motorman attempted to stop the car, but it was too late.

A fractured skull caused the death of an unknown man at the West Penn hospital last night. He was sent to the hospital by the Kenefick Company, who reported he had fallen into a cut at section 6 on the Wabash railroad during the morning.

Gilbert Stephenson, a brakeman of Carnegie, was crushed between two freight cars yesterday evening and died at the West Penn hospital a few hours later.

John T. Welhs, aged 8 years, died yesterday morning at the St. Johns General hospital, Allegheny, of injuries received Monday night by being struck by a Woods Run avenue car near his home, No. 94 McClure avenue.

Michael Dortay, 22 years old, was found dead in bed at his home, No. 4841 Plum alley, early yesterday morning.

DROPPED STOLEN GOODS.

Pittsburgher Arrested at Cleveland on Charge of Grand Larceny.

CLEVELAND, May 26.—(Special.)—Grand larceny is the charge that is placed against Arthur Thomas, a Pittsburgh waiter, and he is in jail awaiting action of the grand jury. Thomas went into a Broadway store today and while the clerk's back was turned it is said he put two suits of clothes and other garments worth $89 into his grip and skipped out.

Kate Maccourek, the clerk, unable to get help, started after him and ran three squares at such speed that the man dropped the grip. A policeman saw the chase and caught Thomas.

EVIDENCE STRONG AGAINST MILLER

John J. Ryan Places His Papers at the Disposal of the Goverment.

ACCOMPLICE ARRESTED

Joseph H. John of Rockville, Ind., Who Is Accused of Engineering the Unlawful Deal, Arraigned at Terre Haute.

DANIEL V. MILLER, Attorney for Postoffice Department. Under Arrest on Charge of Accepting Bribe from Turf Investment Concern.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, Room 10, Postal Building, WASHINGTON, D. C., May 26.

Daniel V. Miller, former attorney for the postoffice department, was at his office today to take leave of his associates and his only statement was that he was innocent of the charges made against him for which he was removed from office and arrested. Postmaster General Payne and the other officials are confident they have abundant testimony for their case against Miller.

The checks which figure in the alleged payments to Miller and Johns which are in possession of the department, are for $3,400. They were supplemented with a cash payment of $1,100. The checks are signed by the Ryan concern and made out to Johns' order and indorsed by him. Ryan has agreed to be a witness for the government. He has furnished the department with all the information in his possession, including the documents.

CINCINNATI, May 26.—The warrants for Miller and Johns were drawn here last Saturday on information furnished by postoffice inspectors who have a great mass of documentary evidence, notably a letter to John J. Ryan, from George A. C. Christianey as acting assistant attorney general for the postoffice department, informing Ryan that the investigation satisfied the Washington officials of his right to use the mails in his business.

Ryan declared Johns asked $5,000 to get from Miller a letter from the attorney general's office showing Ryan was entitled to use the mails. Later, Ryan says, Johns came down to $2,500, and the proposition was accepted. A proposition to pay $2,000 for literature so worded it would pass muster if it was ever taken up in the mails was later accepted.

TERRE HAUTE, IND., May 26.—Joseph H. Johns, who is charged with complicity in the Miller-Ryan postal scandal, was arraigned before Commissioner Higgins at noon and gave bond for $1,500 for his appearance at Indianapolis on June 25.

STARK COUNTY IS FOR MR. ROOSEVELT

We are friends of Senator Hanna here and our action should not be construed as unfriendly, but the Republicans of Stark county know Mr. Roosevelt well and they want him for president next year. So it was only natural that they should go on record to that effect."

H. B. Weber, a lawyer who enjoyed close relations with President McKinley, was chairman of the committee on resolutions in the county convention, and he is the man who is responsible for the clause which has caused so much comment. Mr. Weber is a great admirer of Senator Hanna, but he stands by his guns in this matter and ably defends his position. When asked for his reasons for the action when it was said:

"I doubt whether there is any place wherein President Roosevelt is held in higher esteem than in Stark county and the convention was doing simple justice to his splendid administration and also to his candidacy for president, to give him the indorsement that it did. This had nothing whatever to do with any controversy that had arisen between Senators Foraker and Hanna regarding this matter. In our county Mr. Hanna is exceedingly popular and the indorsement of his candidacy for re-election to the United States senate by the convention was received not only with approval, but with great enthusiasm. These resolutions were adopted unanimously by the convention with a full understanding of exactly what they meant and I believe that the delegates so instructed will, to their utmost, carry them out. There was not a dissenting vote against their adoption, in so far as it pertained to the candidacy of either Mr. Hanna or President Roosevelt.

"We know in this county that President McKinley had no better friend than Senator Hanna and nothing would induce our people to say or do anything that would in any way injure his candidacy, but the convention felt that the indorsement of President Roosevelt was not only the proper thing to do, but the right thing to do, as it voiced the sentiment of our people as I believe it does of the people over this entire country. In other words, so far as the presidency is concerned, the people of this county are enthusiastically and unitedly for Mr. Roosevelt."

NEW YORK CELEBRATES ANNIVERSARY OF BIRTH

President Roosevelt Sends Letter Complimenting Officials of the City.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, May 26.—New York today officially commemorated the 250th anniversary of the establishment of municipal government in New Amsterdam, afterwards called by force and treaty by Holland and England, New York. The whole city was gay with bunting. The city hall where the main exercises were held, and City Hall park were the center of attraction, the decorations there being especially elaborate. In the public schools half a million children took part in special patriotic exercises.

Mayor Low presided over the ceremonies at the city hall and delivered a brief address, referring especially to the city's marvelous growth and the open handed charity of its people.

"Our special pride," said he, "is that we are an American city and our chief ambition is to show how the greatest American city can best serve the world."

Elihu Root, secretary of war, prefaced his remarks with a letter from President Roosevelt. After expressing his regrets at his inability to be present the president wrote:

The changes in New York city during the 250 years which have just elapsed are such as could be paralleled nowhere else in the world. We now have in New York the second largest city of the world and it is no idle compliment to you and those associated with you, Mr. Mayor, for me to say that there is no other city here or abroad of whose governing officials its people have more just reason to feel proud.

In his address Secretary Root said:

The people of the city are able to show their capacity to govern themselves—slaves to no ruler and to no party. The men who 250 years ago founded this municipal government were sound and wholesome men and their spirit of freedom, of toleration, of civic pride and good citizenship survives, permeating the whole mighty mass of the great metropolis. I am proud to come back from the councils of the nation to my own home, proud to be a citizen of New York.

NO DISCORDANT NOTE MARS THE HARMONY

Senator Quay is said to have announced an intention to not again be a candidate for the United States senate. M. G. Leslie, chairman of the Republican city committee of Pittsburgh, was given as an authority.

"I never gave such an interview, neither have I made such a statement," said Mr. Leslie to the writer. "Col. Quay has not informed me as to his intentions in regard to becoming a candidate for another term. He did say to me that he would not attend the convention unless asked to do so by Senator Penrose and the other leaders. Col. Quay said the organization of the convention was in capable hands; that he was gradually withdrawing from active participation in detail work, believing that younger men should assume these burdens in the future. And that is all Quay told me and all I repeated to any one."

KEENAN FACTION WINS WESTMORELAND FIGHT

Democratic State Executive Committee Determines Vexatious Contest.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, HARRISBURG, PA., May 26.

The Democratic state executive committee this afternoon decided the Westmoreland contest in favor of the faction led by Capt. John R. Keenan. By this decision Henry E. Ackerman is recognized as chairman of the county committee, and John P. Brennen seated as a member of the state committee. Joseph R. Eisenman, trustee, was ordered to pay any committee funds in his hands to Chairman Ackerman.

The fight in Westmoreland is between John B. Keenan and Judge L. W. Doty. At the county convention in January, Doty ran George H. Hugus against Ackerman for chairman and selected James P. Mulvihill for state committeeman. The Keenan faction claimed that Ackerman and Brennen were elected.

The fight was dumped into the Democratic state committee meeting in April and a sub-committee of the executive committee was appointed to investigate. The investigators were W. T. Creasy, John F. Ancona and William H. Kneib. They reported to the full committee today in favor of Ackerman and Brennen and the decision was accepted. It is final.

Capt. Keenan, a member of the committee, was present. E. S. Doty of Bedford, a brother of the Westmoreland judge, is a committeeman, and holds with the majority. Each faction has elected state delegates, and the question of their recognition will come before the convention in September.

Indorsed Administration.

YORK, PA., May 26.—The libel law now on the statutes of Pennsylvania was indirectly endorsed in the York county Republican convention today by the adoption of resolutions commending State Senator McConkey for his success in securing a large appropriation for the York hospital. The convention indorsed President Roosevelt and there was also a resolution praising Gov. Pennypacker.

FARM BRINGS $130,000.

Pittsburgh Capitalists Have Secured a 77-Acre Tract at McKeesport.

One of the biggest realty deals put through this year in McKeesport was consummated yesterday by a party of Pittsburgh capitalists, the sum involved being $130,000. The deal, which has been under way for some time, was for a 77-acre farm located in the Eighth ward, McKeesport. It was sold by Mrs. Catherine Soles and is said to be one of the best vacant plots of land in the city.

After the deed in the transfer is passed the new owners will plot the tract and place it on the market in building lots.

BRICKLAYERS GAIN A VICTORY

Succeeded In Organizing a New Structural Trades Council.

SIX TRADES ADMITTED

Only Crafts Employed in Building Shell Work Will Be Entitled to Affiliation With It. Fight Still Goes On.

Delegates from all trades employed in structural work met last night in the Chronicle Telegraph building and formed an organization to be known as the Structural Trades council. Over 30 different trades are connected with the Building Trades council, but the new organization permitted but six to affiliate with it. They are the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, the Bricklayers and Masons' International union, the Structural Iron Workers, the International Union of Steam Engineers, the Operative Plasterers International association, the United Association of Journeymen Plumbers, Gas Fitters, Steam Fitters and Steam Fitters' Helpers of the United States and Canada.

Other crafts had delegates at the meeting, but it was decided to confine the new organization to crafts employed in structural work only, or what is more generally known as the "shell" work. The painters had delegates present, but that organization was not admitted on the ground that is was a finishing trade.

The electricians, slate roofers, tile layers, housesmiths and similar trades were represented but were not admitted. There are 26 trades affiliated with the Building Trades council that cannot be admitted into the new organization. The structural iron workers withdrew from the Building Trades council last Saturday, with the intention of affiliating with the new council. Another meeting will be held to elect officers and prepare by-laws. The National Stonemasons' union held a smoker in Arnfeld hall to draw attention from the meeting, but it had little effect. The smoker, however, was a success considering the number present. Addresses were made by members of the stonemasons' union and invited labor leaders. The sentiment was to continue the fight.

George Jones, secretary of the National Stonemasons' union, said last night: "We are in the right and are determined to win the fight. We have nothing to arbitrate and are confident that the contractors will stick by us."

George Gubbins, president of the Bricklayers and Masons International union, after the meeting had this to say:

"We met the stonemasons and contractors to discuss the situation. We made a proposition to leave the dispute in the hands of an arbitration board consisting of five presidents of leading labor organizations, such as Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, and John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers. Two of the arbitrators were to be appointed by the bricklayers, two by the stonemasons, and the fifth by the other four. They promised to arbitrate and until the presidents were selected agreed to continue work as formerly, declaring a truce until the dispute was settled.

"Instead of complying with the agreement they broke it within a few hours after it was made. The contractors have also broken faith with us, so we are ready to force our rights. The principal firms in the city are with us."

NEW CHARTER IS ASKED FOR COLLEGE FOR WOMEN

Directorship Is to Be Decreased and the Income of the Institution Increased.

After deciding to make radical changes in the management of the Pennsylvania college for women, the board of trustees have made application for a new charter for the institution. It is proposed to reduce the membership of the board from 20 to 15, and to increase the school's financial income. The Rev. Dr. John F. Sharpe has refused the offer of the presidency and the directors are at a loss to secure a new chief executive to succeed the Rev. Dr. Chalmers Martin, who resigned.

The application for the new charter will be made to common pleas court No. 1 on Thursday, June 4, by Attorneys Robert E. Stewart and James R. Sterrett. The reduction of the board of trustees to 15 members is significant of the progressive ideas which are being inaugurated in building up the institution. The Rev. Dr. W. L. McEwan, one of the most active trustees on the board, yesterday said:

"In reducing the complement of the board we expect to get the same number of workers without sacrificing time in struggling for a quorum, a condition that confronts every organization that has much work to be done. In 15 members none of the best workers will be lost.

BACK BROKEN, MAN LAY TWO DAYS AND NIGHTS

Sweeney Fell from Tree Holding Hawk, Which Was Eaten by Hogs.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

FINDLAY, O., May 26.—W. L. Sweeney of Deshler fell 67 feet from a tree, broke his back, one rib and one arm and lives to tell it. He climbed to the top of a tree to kill some chicken hawks and in attempting to descend fell. He was conscious all the time, but was unable to move or speak. For two days and nights he lay in that condition and finally fainted.

A searching party last night located him. In his hand he held with a death grip a young hawk.

Sweeney, after being taken to his home recovered his speech sufficiently to tell that he had the bird in his hand attached to the broken arm, and that he was unable to let go of it. Some hogs came upon him the second day and partly devoured the bird, which had died the night before.

ASKED FORGIVENESS.

Man Who Shot Himself at Bellaire Left a Note for His Wife.

WHEELING, W. VA., May 26.—Early Tuesday morning in the city park at Bellaire, a man by the name of T. E. Jackson of Fallston, Pa., ticket and express agent at Groveton, Pa., shot himself with a revolver in the head, dying a few hours afterwards.

A card was found in his pockets giving his address, and also a card addressed to his wife in Fallston, Pa., saying: "Dear wife: Please forgive me for what I have done. I will be dead when you get this." (Signed) "Husband."

BEAVER, May 26.—Mrs. Jackson left this afternoon for Bellaire to claim the body of her husband.

MINE EXPLOSION FATAL TO FOUR

property of the Chartiers Coal and Coke Company of Pittsburgh. This property is owned by J. T. Stonerod and R. P. Burgan, both of this city.

The mine was not damaged by the explosion. The facings of the mine were not in the least disturbed by the gas. The dynamite blew away the "dip" as it was intended to do.

James Black, mine inspector of the seventh district, who lives at Idlewood, was sent for, and later in the afternoon he went into the mine with a number of the men. When he came out he refused to say anything pertaining to the accident.

"My examination was not thorough enough to express an opinion at this time," he said. "I will go into the mine again tomorrow, and after I have made a complete investigation I will be able to determine."

GAS WAS KNOWN TO BE THERE.

Charles G. Ott, one of the injured men, said: "The explosion was caused by gas that had accumulated about the 'dip.' The mine had not been worked there for three weeks and considerable gas was known to be there. William Neilson made no investigation of this before he started to blast away the 'dip,' and when the dynamite exploded the gas ignited and killed the men standing near by."

There are seven mines of the Pittsburgh Coal Company in the Federal district and all will close down until after the funerals of the victims tomorrow. The men will be buried from the Federal Methodist church. The dead men were members of the local union No. 1013, of which Charles McDonald is president.

ROOSEVELT'S MESSAGE BRINGS HANNA DOWN

pleased. He said tonight: "The final settlement of what promised to be a very embarrassing situation for the Republican party appears to have been made by Senator Hanna's statement. This is a very pleasing outcome of what threatened at one time to be a serious matter to the party as well as Senator Hanna and his other leaders.

"I probably know Senator Hanna's views on this matter quite as well as any other man in public life, and I can frankly state that he is not only not a candidate himself, but that for a long time he has been sincerely in favor of President Roosevelt's nomination. There were, however, local considerations in Ohio politics that made it impossible for him to take any other stand than one of opposition to a direct indorsement of the president's nomination at this particular convention to be held next week. The president's expressed desire left a way open for Mr. Hanna to recede from his position, which put him in a false light, as was well known by all his intimate friends. The way now seems entirely clear for absolute harmony in the party for its campaign next year."

The understanding among the politicians here had been that Mr. Roosevelt would not proceed further than the statement he made through Secretary Loeb, printed in this morning's papers, and that he would take chances on the result of a contest in the convention.

"Senator Hanna's statement and the position he now takes is eminently appropriate. I congratulate the president and Senator Hanna and the Republicans of Ohio on the harmony within the party, that this step reveals. We can now avoid a contest in Ohio, there is no further possibility of a clash in the Republicans of our state, can proceed to triumphantly re-elect Senator Hanna, and to win a splendid victory for the state ticket."

CURVE IN THE ROAD CAME IN NICK OF TIME

John D. Culbertson, His Wife and Two Guests Hurt in a Runaway.

John D. Culbertson of Sewickley and a party of friends that were out driving with him last night had a narrow escape from death in a runaway accident near Sewickley. Four persons were thrown out of a trap just in time, for if they had stayed in a little longer they would at least have been seriously hurt, if not killed.

Mr. Culbertson, his wife and two women guests were out in Culbertson's two-horse trap. While the party was driving down the steep Blackburn road the neck yoke broke and the horses ran away. At a curve in the road the party was thrown out and the horses ran on. The vehicle was overturned and broken to pieces before the horses were caught in Sewickley.

All the members of the party were picked up and carried into a house nearby. Mr. Culbertson and his wife were bruised and cut about the head, face and hands. The two guests were also badly cut and sprained. After being attended by physicians all were taken back to Mr. Culbertson's house in River avenue.

COL. AMMON WILL CHARGE CONSPIRACY

NEW YORK, May 26.—(Special.)—Both sides are preparing for a bitter struggle when Col. Robert Ammon is brought to trial on the charge of having received stolen property. Assistant District Attorney Nott made a motion before Judge Newburgher today for a special panel of jurors to try Col. Ammon. The case will be called next week. Counsel for the defendant assert that a sensation will be sprung during the trial when it will be demonstrated that a conspiracy was formed to convict Col. Ammon.

To Contest Mayor's Election.

BALTIMORE, MD., May 26.—Formal notice of Congressman Frank C. Wachter's intention to contest the recent election for mayor was sent Mayor Robert M. McLane today. The notice includes Mr. Wachter's specific claim that he received a plurality of the votes cast at the recent municipal election.

Scrofula

It is commonly inherited.

Few are entirely free from it.

Pale, weak, puny children are afflicted with it in nine cases out of ten, and many adults suffer from it.

Common indications are bunches in the neck, abscesses, cutaneous eruptions, inflamed eyelids, sore ears, rickets, catarrh, wasting, and general debility.

Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills

Eradicate it, positively and absolutely. This statement is based on the thousands of permanent cures these medicines have wrought.

"My daughter had scrofula, with eleven sores on her neck and about her ears. Hood's Sarsaparilla was highly recommended and she took it and was cured. She is now in good health." MRS. J. H. JONES, Parker City, Ind.

Hood's Sarsaparilla promises to cure and keeps the promise.

AUTOMOBILES CRAWL SLOWLY INTO MADRID

Sixty Motor Cars Completed the Route Into Spain.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

MADRID, May 26.—Sixty automobiles belonging to the tourist contingent of the Paris-Madrid race arrived here this evening. King Alfonso, Prince Henry of Prussia and the members of the Spanish royal family witnessed the arrival of the cars. The Royal Automobile club has decided to return to the donors the prizes offered for the suppressed race.

PARIS, May 26.—Premier Combes in the chamber of deputies today said permission for the Paris-Madrid race had been granted owing to solicitations in behalf of the interests of French industry. The accidents were not due to lack of precaution. The government was not disposed to grant further permission. If automobilists want more speed trials they must make a private track.

LONDON, May 26.—Joseph Pennell, the artist and writer, has sent a most graphic description of the first stage of the Paris-Madrid automobile race to the Daily Chronicle from Chartres. After describing the assembling of the crowds, and how, finally, the racers were seen coming from the top of a hill, he continued:

"As the cars fell—there is no other word for it—down the slopes and approached the narrow bridge, jumped with a bound across it and flew with a scream up the rise beyond, one could see by the twitch of the wheels, not half of which was caused by the road, how agonizing was the strain on the driver, forced to make his way through the endless, uncontrolled crowds which littered the road from Paris to Bordeaux. Much as one may esteem the broadminded views of the French government in encouraging the motor industry, the government's neglect to protect the course was criminal and nothing else."

The Dublin Gazette tonight contains the regulations for the race for the James Gordon Bennett cup which is to take place in Ireland July 2. The whole course will be closed from 6 o'clock in the morning until the race is finished, and the other regulations reduce the possibility of accidents to a minimum. It is believed that the Irish administration is considering still further precautions to insure the safety of the public. King Edward, who is taking great interest in the contest, talked over the matter yesterday with Premier Balfour.

ONE DAY IN LOCAL POLITICS

E. J. FRAUENHEIM TO TAKE OFFICE

New City Treasurer Will Assume Charge of Affairs Next Monday.

REASON FOR THE DELAY

Change of Officials Deferred Until the Spring Taxes Had Been Collected — Not Likely That Old Soldiers Will be Removed.

Edward J. Frauenheim, who was appointed city treasurer by Mayor Hays more than a month ago, will take office next Monday. It was supposed that the mayor might reappoint Mr. Frauenheim, so that his appointment as treasurer would be legal beyond question, but in this case the mayor is following out his plan of not submitting to select council. Just how long his appointees may serve without confirmation is a question that has still to be decided, but it is known that Hays fears select council may not confirm his nominees.

Mr. Frauenheim yesterday confirmed the report that he would enter upon the duties of city treasurer on Monday. Asked if he had decided on any appointments or changes, he said he had not yet considered them. Mr. Frauenheim and the mayor both said the arrangement by which City Treasurer David R. Torrence continued to serve several weeks after his successor had been appointed was a personal arrangement, for the convenience of the city, the incumbent and the new appointee. Mr. Frauenheim was appointed in the midst of the spring taxpaying season, and to make a change in fiscal officers then would, it is asserted, have created much confusion which the arrangement avoided.

It is understood that the new city treasurer will think twice before discharging any old soldier from the city treasury department. The anger of the veterans at the many discharges of old soldiers, and the consequent formation of a political organization, has alarmed the administration. It is understood that Frank C. Dorrington, cashier of the office, will be retained. Dorrington is a member of the executive committee of the old soldiers' organization.

Thomas S. Bigelow and Edward M. Bigelow left Pittsburgh on Monday night. It was at first thought they went to Beaver to see Senator Quay, but it was learned yesterday that they passed through Harrisburg in the morning. It is supposed they have gone to New York to consult their doctor. E. M. Bigelow, it is believed, while on this trip will engage a superintendent of the bureau of parks.

Mayor Hays, Mr. Frauenheim and William B. Rodgers, the city solicitor, had a conference in Mr. Rodgers' office yesterday. What it was about they would not say. Mayor Hays said there was no intention to revive the project of mandamusing select council to go into joint session with the common branch to elect a new city clerk and assistant city clerk. He knew of no plans to procure an election.

DOES NOT WISH TO BE AN OLD MAN'S DARLING

Fifteen-Year-Old Annie Sago Fled When Convinced That She Had Been Sold.

Rather than marry a man many years her senior, and to whom, it is said, she believes she has been sold by her father, Annie Sago, a 15-year-old Slavish girl, has run away from her home at Duquesne Junction, opposite Braddock. It is alleged that arrangements were made by the girl's parents to marry her to a man about 45 years old. The ceremony was to have been performed yesterday morning, but it had to be declared off, as Annie, who left Monday night, had not returned. Yesterday her father, George Sago, asked the police of the Monongahela valley to locate and return his daughter.

Among the neighbors it is said that Annie informed her father of her objections to the marriage, but could not prevail upon him to declare the wedding off. English-speaking neighbors of the Sagos declare that they will ask the Western Pennsylvania Humane society to take up the girl's cause should her father attempt to force her to carry out his wishes.

Avery's Most Successful Year.

The annual commencement exercises of the Avery College Trade schools, will take place tomorrow evening at the college buildings in Allegheny. The address of the evening will be made by Prof. W. B. Evans, principal of the manual training school at Washington, D. C. Thursday afternoon and evening, from 2 to 10 o'clock, there will also be an exhibition of the work of the students. This will be the 54th annual commencement. There were 150 pupils enrolled during the year and the year has been the most successful the school has ever known. The distribution to students for work done while acquiring a trade during the past term, aggregated $2,245.75.

TWENTY PRISONERS HAD BUT ONE NAME

Health officer Thomas Patterson of East Pittsburgh made information against 20 Greeks before Justice James Sullivan. They live in a boarding house and were accused of throwing rubbish in the streets. When they appeared for a hearing last night they all gave the same name and each denied being the proprietor of the house. The justice discharged the prisoners, as the information was not sufficient for a conviction.

Child Taken Away.

Another feature of the case of Harry Clawson of No. 625 East North avenue, Allegheny, who has been having trouble with his wife, and it is said, attempted to commit suicide, developed yesterday when the Children's Aid society took away a boy which the couple secured from the society about four years ago. The boy is about 7 years old. His right name is George Lewis and he does not belong to this section of the state.

Realty Owners Must Be Compensated.

The Hilltop board of trade last night adopted a resolution indorsing the proposition for the raising of the bridges over the Allegheny river. There was no opposition to the project, but it was generally considered that property owners at either end of the structures should be fully compensated for any damage that might be done their property.

Republicans Claim More Defections From Citizens' Ranks in Select.

FLEMING MUST FIGHT

He Will Have to Meet Contest in Court and in Interim Will be Barred From the Sessions of Council.

Republican leaders of select council claim they have pledges from enough Citizens members to make up for any defections that may occur in their own ranks, and that they are bound to win every time the Citizens make an attempt to elect a city clerk.

William Schempp of the Thirteenth ward, who left the Citizens on Monday, is said to be still loyal to the Republicans, although the Citizens worked hard yesterday to get him back into line and made loud boasts that they had been successful. It is claimed confidently, however, that Schempp has quit the Citizens' party for good, and that there are several more Citizens who can be counted upon at the proper moment to follow his example.

It is practically settled that George S. Fleming will have to fight in court to hold his seat in select council. Within the next few days a petition by First ward citizens will likely be filed in court, asking for a rule that Fleming be made to show cause for holding his seat in select council. After the filing of this petition Fleming will have 15 days in which to make answer. If he denies the allegation that he has moved to the Fourteenth ward the court will appoint a commissioner to take evidence.

A number of persons, some of whom belong to the Citizens' party have promised to testify in court that Fleming is a resident of the Fourteenth ward.

If the matter is taken into court President Lambie will not permit Fleming to participate in the proceedings of select council in the interim.

Republicans claim that if a vote had been taken on the appeal of Councilman Robert H. Douglas from the decision of President Lambie, Monday afternoon, that the appeal would have been lost, and that the remarkable ruling by John Benz was not necessary to sustain President Lambie. They claim Schempp would have voted with them and also that President Lambie was entitled to a vote on the appeal, so Select Councilman John A. Murphy claimed yesterday.

Fleming would have been barred, however, from voting and with Lambie and Schempp voting with the Republicans, the appeal of Douglas would have been lost. The vote would have stood 18 in favor of the appeal, and 19 against the appeal.

Select Councilman Evan Jones of the Thirty-sixth ward, who deserted the Republicans Monday, was a caller at Director E. M. Bigelow's office yesterday, but did not find the director in.

SMALL CASH CAPITAL BUT VERY LARGE IDEAS

South Side Prisoner Wanted to Buy the Patrol Wagon and the Station House.

E. E. Louther, with assets in sight of one junk knife and a letter addressed to him in care of the workhouse, is a financier before whom J. P. Margan fades into insignificance. The South Side police, who have been having trouble collecting their hard-earned salaries, look upon his plans coldly and will have him examined as to his sanity. He was picked up in Carson street last night owing to his peculiar actions, whereupon he attempted to bribe the policeman by making an offer of $100 for his release.

Louther tried to make a barter for the patrol wagon, and then said he had under consideration the purchase of the station house. He promised the sergeant $5 a drink for each drink of water, and wanted to give a mortgage on an imaginary $14,000 piece of property.

Louther is about 20 years old.

BUSINESS FIRST, HONEYMOON AFTERWARD

After one week of married life the broad Atlantic ocean will separate a newly made bride and groom of McKeesport. Mr. and Mrs. George Chapman were married Monday night by the Rev. J. A. Maxwell, pastor of the First Baptist church, McKeesport. Next week Mrs. Chapman will sail for her old home in England alone, because her husband is too busy to accompany her. Mr. Chapman, who is employed at the McKeesport plant of the National Tube Company, expects to be able to go to England in about three months, when he will make the return trip with his wife and enjoy a small share of their singular honeymoon.

POLICEMAN BOPP HAS GOOD MEMORY

Policeman John Bopp of Allegheny has a remarkable memory. Yesterday he walked into Central station dragging with him a prisoner who was evidently very reluctant to accompany him. At the desk Officer Bopp said he had arrested the man, William Schreiber, on Locock street and wanted him locked up as a suspicious person. According to Bopp's story Schrieber escaped from him a year ago after he had been caught robbing through a drunken man's clothes. Since that time, Schreiber confessed, he has not been in this part of the country. He was fined $10 and costs.

"Drummer Boy of Shiloh."

The beautiful play of the late war of the rebellion, "The Drummer Boy of Shiloh," which will be seen at the Bijou theater next week has been one of the most successful plays of its kind ever written. Much credit is due to the author, A. F. Nail, for its annual success. When Mr. Nail wrote this play he used incidents that really occurred during the civil war and most theater-goers are well aware of the ability of this author-actor. The story is a true one and needs no comment. It will be staged in more elaborate manner next week than ever before.

ORDERS TO QUIT WERE NOT OBEYED

Fourteenth Ward Citizens Reorganized Their Election Districts Last Night.

CLARK'S WISH IGNORED

Right of Secretary of the Bigelow Organization to Interfere Was Not Admitted—Several Changes Made.

Despite a request to the contrary from James W. Clark, director of the department of public charities, and secretary of the Citizens' party city committee of 38, the Citizens of the Fourteenth ward held district meetings last night and reorganized the election districts. Many new men were elected to chairmanships and vice chairmanships. In one district the candidate of W. J. Small, one of the assistant engineers of the public works department, was defeated for the chairmanship by H. E. Goldman, whom he had defeated last year. In several of the districts there was a hot fight, but William J. Moore, the present ward chairman, against whose re-election the fight was directed, said he was satisfied with the result.

The result last night, it was claimed, eliminated from the councils of the Citizens' party several men who did not work for the election of Mayor Hays.

The following are the results so far as they could be obtained: In the first, second and fourth districts the old officers were re-elected; in the fourth district, H. E. Goldman was elected chairman; William A. Mahaffey, vice chairman; Dr. W. A. Caven, secretary, and John W. Jones, treasurer, although Small's friends held another meeting and elected rival district officers.

In the seventh, Councilman Chris Beckert's district, the candidates he favored were elected; in the tenth, George F. Kim was re-elected chairman; in the eleventh, Thomas L. Stewart was elected chairman, Gustave H. Bentz, vice chairman, and Dr. George B. Gilmore, secretary; in the thirteenth, James Fitzgibbon was elected chairman, John F. Moore vice chairman, and David H. Lewis, secretary; in the fifteenth, Select Councilman James J. Booth's district, his son, W. B. Booth, was elected chairman.

The twelfth is Councilman W. H. Stevenson's district, and the district meeting was held in his house. A. W. Black was elected chairman, James B. Stevenson, vice chairman, and Watson Forsythe, secretary. Mr. Steevnson was elected delegate to the legislative district committee. The names of other legislative district delegates elected are as follows: Third, John W. Jones; ninth, W. J. Caskey; eleventh, T. A. Anderson; thirteenth, Frank A. Day. Caskey and Day are new men. Some of the districts elected the committeemen to form part of a new ward committee.

The Citizens' party people in the ward did not understand why Secretary James W. Clark should ask that the meetings be postponed to another date. Clark sent a letter to each district chairman, but as his right to interfere was not admitted, the meetings were held anyhow.

Mellor's Special Sale of Pianos and Piano Players at Greatly Reduced Prices

WE now have on sale a large lot of used pianos and Pianola players at greatly reduced prices, and if you have the least notion of purchasing a musical instrument it will be highly profitable for you to come.

An extensive piano business, such as ours is, naturally accumulates large numbers of new and used pianos. Odd new piano accumulations are the result of changes in case designs, sample pianos that we buy from time to time for comparison with other pianos of equal price and grade. Used pianos reach our floors through return of rental pianos and through trades.

A number of such instruments are included in this sale.

The pianos that come to us in trade are, in many instances, of the higher grades, and are traded because of the change of taste or requirements rather than because of unsatisfactory service of the piano. Exchanged uprights are traded in on grands and grands on uprights. Thus we gather a stock of desirable used pianos which are carefully re-made before we offer them for sale. This list of such pianos is an especially attractive one.

Come whether you contemplate purchasing or not—at least see these splendid bargains.

Special Decoration Day Sales Now in Operation.

A series of special sales begins here this morning all in the interest of women, and all comprising women's attire. Were old prices maintained we could not call the sales special, therefore you will notice that prices are materially reduced—notably on Waists and Millinery.

Shirtwaists—Reduced Prices.

No department of the store in which women's dress is the feature, has so much of interest than the department on the second floor where shirtwaists are sold. An idea of the reduced prices in operation:

At 75c each, reduced from $1 and $1.25—a great collection of Wash Waists, different materials, 1903 styles.

At $1, reduced from $1.50—pretty Waists of lawn, madras and gingham, all white, or white and black, either plain or trimmed.

At $1.50, reduced from $2.50—fine Waists, either of plain or of mercerized cloth. Choose those handsomely embroidered or those just plainly tailored.

At $2, $2.50 and $3—worth 25 per cent more—remarkably pretty Waists in styles that are not a week old. The very latest ideas.

At $6.75 and $7.50, reduced from $13.50 and $15—handsomely embroidered Shirtwaists of pure linen. Many different colors, elaborately embroidered in white floral designs. Cuffs, stock and turn-over are also embroidered. All sizes.

Shirtwaist Suits.

Every style of Shirtwaist Suit that the mind of woman can think of—only those least expensive mentioned here:

White Pique Suits for $3—Too small a sum to engage the attention of some women, and small enough to interest the most economical. White with small black effects or black with white dots.

Shirtwaist Suits for $5, and choice is from fine white madras, lawn and gingham, pure white with dainty embroidery and laces. Nothing flimsy about the trimmings or about the materials, either.

White Lawn Dresses.

Of all the Summery fabrics none is more becoming to women than filmy lawn. We made a special endeavor to get the neatest lawn dresses we could.

Of white lawn, every desirable style, such trimmings as lace, embroidery, braid and handiwork, for such practical prices at $10, $12.50, $15 and up to $40.

Washable Skirts.

For every-day skirts these low prices suggest something inexpensive with all the style you can ask for:

$3 for Wash Skirts of white linen, 7-gore strap seams.

$4 for Wash Skirts of white pique, golf style, welted seams.

$5 for Wash Golf Skirts of black pique, 6-inch hem and welt seams.

$4, $5 and $6 is the price range for skirts in black and navy Sicilian.

Millinery—Reduced Prices.

Our prices for stylish Hats and Toques are low enough in the first place, dear knows, and when such reductions as follows come to the front, they simply indicate that these millinery prices are unmatchable:

Summer Hats and Toques, newest shapes, for $2.50, instead of $5; for $3.50, instead of $7; for $5, instead of $10, and up to Hats for $12.50, instead of $25.

At 50c, reduced from $1—Untrimmed Hats in newest shapes of burnt straw, white and black.

$2, $3, $4 and $5—worth double—the price range for Outing, Golf and Promenade Hats.

At $3.50, $5 and $7.50, the price range for Girls' Trimmed Hats, beautiful effects in broad-brim leghorn and tuscan.

Fine Novelty Silks—Reduced Prices.

At $3 a yard, reduced from $6—Satin Broche Foulard, one of the greatest novelties of the season. An opportunity for women to possess something extraordinary for half price. The ground colors are blue, tan, gray and brown, over which are spread in delightful disorder, neat effects in white prints. These novelties are of French creation and come only in single dress patterns. Width of the goods is 48 inches.

At 35c, 75c and $1 a yard—White Habutai Broche in several styles of stripes and figures. This is a washable silk.

At 50c a yard, a 75c grade of White Wash Cords, 32 inches wide. This washable silk comes in stripe and figures.

And the same opportunity is presented to buy Fine Black Silks at prices materially reduced. Take these Grenadines as an example.

For $2.50 a yard, reduced from $3.50 and $4—Handsome Black Grenadines in 45-inch widths, the designs are stripes and a variety of very neat effects.

Supplementing the statement in yesterday's paper from Charles M. Schwab concerning the business situation, with special reference to the arrangements for pig iron for the ensuing year, there is the news this morning that the United States Steel Corporation has been able to make a contract for only a part of its needed supply, obtaining but 100,000 tons from the Bessemer Furnace association, where it desired 150,000 tons, and that the contract price is higher than that of last year. This evidence that demand continues greater than supply is conclusive proof of the strength of the situation in the iron and steel trades, and a pointer that industrial prosperity is on as strong a foundation at this time as it has been. As the iron business is admittedly the barometer of general conditions, it is apparent that prosperity continues assured.

The new naturalization law which goes into effect June 1 will have the effect of making the suffrage less cheap than it has been. The fees are increased from $1 50 to $2 50, and the issue of certificates is surrounded by more safeguards against fraud. Anarchists are excluded from naturalization, although this feature of the law may be readily evaded if they are willing to dissemble their sentiments to obtain votes, and it is quite likely that this will be done, as the suffrage is a valuable commodity, having a salable value, not only on election day, but in the transaction of party management. Bunches of naturalized votes controlled by public patronage are a recognized asset of ring rule in every city, and extensive naturalization frauds have been from time to time committed to enlarge this resource of ring control. The new law makes fraud more difficult, although it still puts a low and contemptuous valuation upon the privilege of American citizenship.

The struggle for improvement on all predecessors made in building every new cup defender is difficult to keep up. Every season the problem of the designer is to build a faster yacht than was ever known before, and when he succeeds in doing so he increases the difficulty that confronts him in again taking up the problem. It was a matter of some doubt before the last races whether the previous cup defender had really been improved upon, and there appears to be room for some doubt on this point now. The Reliance, the new cup defender, has beaten both the Constitution and Columbia in the trial races so far, but the victory is not so complete and decisive as to indicate marked superiority. In yesterday's race the Constitution was so close to the Reliance that the difference in the latter's favor might easily have been due to better handling rather than to superior capacity, and certainly displays no great margin of advantage. That new and old cup defenders should be so close in their merit is, however, what might be expected. Each was designed to be the fastest possible boat, and each is so close to it that any difference must be narrow.

The lonesomeness of Mr. Bryan as an advocate of free silver is emphasized by the desertion of Prof. E. Benjamin Andrews, once the revered philosopher of the movement. As president of Brown university his adherence to the free silver movement was a surprising incident, as men of his class and standing were regarded as proof against the absurdities of free silver declamation. His conspicuous position as a silver champion in the heart of "the enemy's country" gave great aid and comfort to the free silver boomers. There can be no doubt as to his sincerity in the matter, as he had nothing to gain by his course unless he liked the notoriety it gave him, but the arguments by which he supported his position did not inspire respect for his reasoning powers. He is at present chancellor of the University of Nebraska, and recently made a public admission that his advocacy of free silver was based upon premises which he has since found to have been erroneous. Mr. Bryan is about the only prominent man left who does not believe silver is a dead issue, and Mr. Bryan is so situated that his prominence depends upon the continuance of the silver agitation.

Kentucky shows a commendable degree of state pride in the determination displayed to enforce the administration of justice against the assassins of Marcum, Cockrill and Cox. A special grand jury is sitting at Jackson under the protection of state troops and detachments of the troops are serving as sheriff's posses in making arrests and summoning witnesses. Such extraordinary efforts are needful in order to overcome the terrorism inspired by the outlaws, which paralyzes the ordinary administration of justice. The system of elective sheriffs, state's attorneys and judges tends to degenerate into anarchy in sections where business interests are not strong enough to induce popular appreciation of the benefits of law and order. These Kentucky assassinations are a local protest against the intrusion of the officers of the law in private affairs, such as feuds are considered to be, and local sentiment is not strong enough to deal with such outrages with punitive vigor. The authority of the United States commands respect for every United States officer representing not merely the local community he serves, but the whole power of the nation, and the fact is appreciated. State authority is ordinarily inert, and each community is left to its own resources until exceptional exigencies arouse the state government to action. While national authority is always behind its local representatives, state authority is only occasionally so, and hence lawlessness has a field in which to operate with comparative safety.

The only bone of contention that seemed likely to make trouble in the Ohio convention has been withdrawn by Senator Hanna's decision to make no further opposition to the resolution indorsing the candidacy of President Roosevelt for another term. While Senator Hanna's opposition was simply on the ground of expediency and not because of any antagonism to the Roosevelt movement, yet it was so liable to such construction that it is an advantage to have the matter settled without dispute. The fact that the president himself was not at all averse to the indorsement and was willing to have his feelings on the subject known to the public made Senator Hanna's position untenable, as he promptly recognized. The objection remains that the indorsement will make the presidential succession an issue in the state campaign, but that was unavoidable, as it really is the dominant issue, and rightly or wrongly, the people interpret political developments from that point of view. There is a popular impression that the trust magnates have soured on Roosevelt, and the most interesting political question is whether in any way they can beat him.

The State Convention.

The most noteworthy feature of the Republican state convention, which will meet in Harrisburg today, is the strong contrast it will present to the state convention of last year. Those who were the leaders of opposing forces then have no differences now. In fact, sentiment is so unanimous that the proceedings threaten to be almost tame. The ticket, as has been frequently stated, will be Mathues for state treasurer, Snyder for auditor general and Morrison and Henderson for judges of the superior court, and the unusual geographical distribution of the candidates serves to accentuate the prevalent harmony. The assured nominees for state treasurer and auditor general are from adjoining counties in the extreme southeastern corner of the state, and the two already virtually nominated for the superior court are taken from counties in the extreme northwestern part of the state, which are separated by but one other county. Ordinarily with four places on the ticket there would be demands from various sections with ambitious favorite sons which would cause a wider distribution of honors, in order to win support and stimulate enthusiasm, but everyone is so glad to have complete harmony within the party ranks that there is practically no opposition to the arrangements that have been made by the party leaders. Talk of opposition to Senator Snyder for the nomination for auditor general has died out, and with it went practically the last probability of anything approaching a clash. The gathering of the delegates will not lack interest, however, but the interest will be less in the proceedings of the convention than in the fact that it marks the closing of a troubled period in Republican politics in Pennsylvania, during which party supremacy has been maintained in spite of many blunders. There is good reason to believe that it marks also the opening of an era in which party supremacy will be maintained because of the wisdom of party leaders and of party policies.

New York's Celebration.

Though the celebration of New York's two hundred and fiftieth birthday anniversary began on Sunday, the great day of the feast was yesterday, when a distinguished group of favorite sons delivered orations and there was a formal observance by a big gathering in the City hall, presided over by Mayor Low. The oration of the day was delivered by Gen. James Grant Wilson, while both Secretary of War Root and Gov. Odell delivered interesting addresses. This anniversary of the birth of the metropolis of the American continent is significant and interesting from several points of view. In contrasts the lessons to be learned are striking and valuable. It is, indeed, a far cry from the little Dutch settlement to which Gov. Peter Stuyvesant granted a city charter in 1523 to the teeming city that overflows from every side the island of Manhattan today. Nor has New York's present greatness and the undoubted supremacy she enjoys among municipalities of the western world been a thing of slow growth. New York is so typically a product of the modern American spirit of aggressive progress that all her present triumphs have been won in the past century, and even less, of her history. For 150 years the borough of Manhattan did not give special promise of future greatness. Indeed, a number of other cities and towns on the Atlantic seaboard promised to rival the Dutch village at the mouth of the Hudson as contestants for the honor of becoming the chief American city. It was only after the opening of the Erie canal under the farseeing direction of DeWitt Clinton that New York began to go forward with leaps and bounds. In 1820 the population of New York was 125,000, just a few hundreds ahead of Boston and Philadelphia. The coming of the Erie canal broke a path through which began to pour into New York the growing commerce of that rapidly developing country beyond the Alleghanies and which was to serve also as a gateway to the west for the accumulating tides of immigration and commerce. From that period forward the development of the city has been steady. In less than three-quarters of a century New York has passed from a population of 125,000 and an uncertain and inactive position in the world of commerce and industry to the proud place of chief city of the western continent and the second city in the world.

New York's growth and development is in some measure an epitome of our national growth, for while for many years the city was Dutch and harbored social customs and business and industrial laws of a wholly foreign type, the years of its greatest prosperity have seen all this swallowed up in a national assimilation that makes the dominant life of the metropolis today thoroughly American. Cosmopolitan as New York undoubtedly is, and in this respect she excels any other American municipality, her social, financial and political life are typically American, with hardly a sign actively in view of the old, slow-going Dutch strains that lay at the foundation of her existence. In public morals, in civic honesty and purpose, New York has had a most interesting and varied career, which cannot be touched upon within the limits of a brief article. Suffice it to say by way of greeting to the celebrants of this auspicious anniversary, that if the civic problems and the questions of financial, commercial and social purity and uprightness are just as insistent today as ever in her history, it is equally true that never before did the city of New York seem to have more honest, courageous manhood with which to do battle for the right.

The Bureau of Health.

Controller Larkin has taken the right course to get at the rights of the case concerning the bureau of health. His dissatisfaction with the accounts of that bureau has been expressed a number of times, and the explanations he has been able to obtain have evidently only deepened his dissatisfaction, and he now declares that what he has learned "makes it imperative to report a condition of affairs which, if true, is not only discreditable to the bureau of health, but shows gross mismanagement." This shows abundant cause for investigation, and common council acted properly in adopting a resolution providing for a joint committee for that purpose. We trust that select council will promptly concur, and that the investigation will be extensive and thorough. Powers to summon witnesses and examine them under oath have been conferred upon councils, and those powers should be freely exercised. We would suggest that the city law department should be requested to assist the committee, so as to conduct the investigation in a systematic manner. It should start with the organization of the bureau, the duties of its various officials and all the facts in regard to its transactions and methods should be brought out completely and in their order.

We assume that since Controller Larkin prompted the investigation he will interest himself in its conduct. So much has been said upon the subject that a rambling, desultory inquiry would disgust public opinion. The bureau of health is a very important department of the city government, the character of whose administration more directly and immediately affects public welfare than any other. People can endure the annoyance of ragged and dirty streets without running dangerous risks; they can even make up for police negligence by their own precautions, but against the spread of contagious disease and the accompanying loss, suffering and expense they are dependent upon the work of the bureau of health. The investigation should make such a complete exposure of the workings of the bureau that no doubt should be left as to what it is doing, how it is doing it and what it costs to do it.

A Lesson of Contrasts.

Two pieces of news printed side by side in yesterday's Gazette were rendered all the more notable by their proximity. The one related to emigration from Austria and Hungary and the other told that nearly 200,000 men are idle because of strikes and lockouts in New York city. Besides, there were items in other parts of the paper telling of strikes and threatened strikes in various trades in Chicago and of the difference between bricklayers and stone masons in Pittsburgh that have become a matter of serious embarrassment to builders and contractors.

The labor troubles here are the outgrowth of prosperous conditions. The emigration from Austria and Hungary is another story. It is told by Marcus Braun, who was specially detailed by the United States government to investigate the subject of emigration from Europe. He has completed a tour of Austria and Hungary and made an official report. He finds "every indication that the present heavy emigration movement from the Austro-Hungarian monarchy to the United States and Canada will continue and even increase," and his conclusions are that "this situation arises from three main sources." These are said to be "the encouragement afforded by emigrants who have already gone to America, the poverty and unsatisfactory labor conditions there, and, lastly, the efforts of the unscrupulous local emigration agents whose employment is carried on in defiance of the laws of both Austro-Hungary and the United States." The official who gives out Mr. Braun's report lays greatest stress on the contribution of violations of the laws to the volume of emigration, so that the casual reader is in danger of losing sight of what really appears to be the principal cause for the folk movement to America. He declares that "the peasant emigrants are helpless dupes of the unscrupulous agents, who prepare them to meet the examinations of the emigrant inspectors," both at the home ports and America, and he also accuses the steamship companies. But in spite of the special emphasis laid on these things by the report as furnished to the press, the real reason for the exodus probably appears in those statements of our inspector on which less stress is placed. "Poverty and unsatisfactory labor conditions," coupled with "encouragement afforded by emigrants who have already gone to America" must be a much more powerful stimulus to emigration than the blandishments of emigration agents. The emigration agents could not go on year after year shipping people by tens of thousands to America by the mere use of duplicity and powers of persuasion. Duplicity they may use toward those whose duty it is to enforce the laws, but unless the emigrant finds betterment in leaving his home country for another the stream of emigration must soon slacken. That he does find betterment easily appears. Doubtless, therefore, those who have come to America and those who have heard from friends who have settled in America would not join Mr. Braun in designating the local emigration agents as "unscrupulous" for the teaching they give to enable evasion of emigration laws, but would use a much more complimentary term.

When our traveling inspector found some districts almost depopulated by emigration, and "visited one large village in north Hungary, which contained no male inhabitants between the ages of 10 and 60 years," it cannot be that the mere unscrupulousness of emigration promoters is alone responsible for the condition found. There are deep underlying causes which, while the report does not ignore them, it does not take sufficient account of. But it is well to take account of them and to give them prominence to the end that it be made clear and plain to the 200,000 men on strike in New York, to the thousands on strike and threatening to strike in Chicago, and to the contending workmen in Pittsburgh and elsewhere, that they are quarreling with conditions which constitute a paradise toward which the submerged populations of more than one great European empire is yearning and striving.

Good Month for Anniversaries.

From the Buffalo Commercial.

These are great anniversary days in this happy and glorious country. We have just celebrated the centenary of the Louisiana purchase. During the remainder of the present month will be celebrated the centennial of the state of Ohio; the 250th birthday of the City of New York, and last, but not least, the centenary of the birth of Ralph Waldo Emerson.

CONCORD HYMN.

Sung at the completion of the Battle monument, April 19, 1836.

By the rude bridge that arched the flood,
Their flag to April's breeze unfurled,
Here once the embattled farmers stood,
And fired the shot heard round the world.

The foe long since in silence slept;
Alike the conqueror silent sleeps;
And Time the ruined bridge has swept
Down the dark stream which seaward creeps.

On this green bank, by this soft stream,
We set today a votive stone;
That memory may their deed redeem,
When, like our sires, our sons are gone.

Spirit, that made those heroes dare
To die, and leave their children free,
Bid Time and Nature gently spare
The shaft we raise to them and thee.
—Ralph Waldo Emerson.

The Quiet Observer.

ERASMUS WILSON.

"Of all the gifts this side of Heaven
That ever were to mortals given,
The best to have, the worst to miss,
The truest, sweetest source of bliss—
The one rail left of Eden's fence—
Stands the pure charm of common sense."

The verses intertwined in this article were written by O. S. Ross, who seems to have been a good, common sense sort of fellow, and that is a good deal to say of any one, and a good deal more than can be said of a good many of those now on the face of the earth.

He starts out with a bold statement concerning common sense, but not so bold that he cannot back it up all right.

There are senses and senses, but none that outrank common sense in the management of affairs in this life, or that gives us more encouragement for the future.

There is such a thing as uncommon sense, one phase of which we term genius, and another foolishness. Genius would seem to be nothing more than a departure from the straight line of common sense, but the scientist who is not satisfied with plain terms, calls it superior degeneracy, and calls the genius a superior degenerate.

Naturally, there must be a corresponding inferior degeneracy, which entitles the fool to rank as an inferior degenerate.

The world has benefited greatly from its superior degenerates, no doubt, and has suffered some from its great brood of inferior degenerates—fools, we call them, for short.

* * * * *

"To earn our right to daily bread,
To not regret when time is fled,
To wisely speak and act and think,
To keep life's boat from ruin's brink,
To balance every hour's expense—
We need the aid of common sense."

When you come to think it over calmly, doesn't it appear quite clear that it is not the genius who does all the great things, and makes the world not only habitable, but really enjoyable? He does much, 'tis true, by discovering new and wonderful things just beyond the border line of common sense, but these things have to be brought in and climatized, as it were, or the lives of common sense so extended as to take them in before they can be said to possess any practical value.

Genius would a begging go were it not that good old common sense is ever ready to meet all human wants. Even the fool, though a degenerate of the inferior type, is permitted to exist by clinging onto the borders of common sense.

Thus it is that all acknowledge the supremacy of common sense when they ask for daily bread and accept the common blessings of life.

* * * * *

"Sometimes, no doubt, we need to view
The lightning bolts some genius threw;
But now we need a well mixed and stirred,
With silent thought or spoken word—
A sort of human fool's defense—
The wholesome aid of common sense."

It is just splendid to look upon the achievements of genius, and to contemplate the cleverness and the beauty it has brought within our view. Now it drags a glowing wonder from out the dark depths of obscurity, and again mounts upward with the speed of light in bold adventure among neighboring worlds. It touches the brush and behold a scene appears that astonishes and delights. A pen feels its magic touch and a poem, a very message from the hidden shore, is trailed upon the open page of the passing age, not to be effaced by time. It moves a tuneful heart and the land resounds with sweet and noble melodies, and the valleys ring with merry, heartsome songs which the mountains echo back again.

Great is genius, yet how greater still the common world that sees and hears and enjoys, even feasts upon that which it has brought within the scope and grasp of common sense. Nor is the inferior degenerate denied the privilege of feasting to the extent of his ability to appreciate that which is good and beautiful.

* * * * *

"Some things, perhaps, must still be taught,
Where mighty minds their power inwrought;
But how to guard the priceless wealth
Of peace and love, of youthful health,
And how to keep our own few pence,
Is taught alone by common sense."

Such wonderful things have been brought within range of the common mind by the uncommon that we are led to believe there are still greater, and to expect that they will be discovered and made so clear that common sense may comprehend and render them useful and enjoyable.

It is not for common sense to discover these, but to make them profitable to all, even to the weak and foolish. Indeed it is only common sense that can enjoy the fruits of genius to the fullest extent, for genius itself is too sensitive, and the inferior degenerate too stupid.

Who but the common folks enjoy the works of the painter, the composer, the poet, the inventor? To what else may genius appeal but to common sense? To what does it owe all that it does, or is, but to its mother—common sense.

Be thankful therefore if heaven has been so kind as to endow you with a fair share of sense of the common kind.

* * * * *

"We pray for faith, and light, and peace,
For hir's remove, and life's increase,
For strength to meet the tempter's power,
For dying grace for dying hour—
But now, right in the present tense,
Give us, O Lord! good common sense."

We know that whatsoever comes must have had some place from which to come; and that which is sent must have had a sender; and all gifts must have a giver. It requires no intimate knowledge of the rules of logic, nor of geometry, nor of the higher physics, to enable one to understand these simple propositions, because they are based on common sense, or rather, they are of common sense a part.

What more do we need to know than that the necessary means for preserving and maintaining life were ready when life was first sent upon the earth, and they have never failed, nor has there ever been a sign of them failing. Then why fret and worry? If your life's work is worth continuing the means will be within your reach.

Does this not comprehend the field of philosophy and of theology? And what is it, after all, but common sense, pure and simple.

* * * * *

"To keep from useless jar and strife,
And bless the changing path of life,
To make each fountain purer still,
To take from loss it's fatal chill,
And bring thy own sweet recompense,
We bow to thee, blest common sense."

The world has about reached the theoretical conclusion that war is not a necessity, but it will be some time before this becomes practicable. Man has not been entirely weaned from the law of ages past that might makes right, and as long as he continues to nibble the spirit of this law he will continue to prey upon his weaker neighbor, to seek excuse for fighting, and to compel submission to his views of right and wrong.

However, we may read in the signs of the times that the age of universal peace is coming. Its dawn is already here, and there may be those living now who will see it in all its glory, and hear that heavenly hosanna, "Peace on earth, good will to man," ring out in triumph—a triumph of common sense.

Hobby-Riding Bigelow.

From the Detroit Free Press.

Because of his sledge-hammer criticism of the United States army some of our hot-blooded patriots will denounce Poultney Bigelow as a liar and express a yearning desire to "punch his head." No greater mistake could be made. To take him seriously would be to anoint him with oil and sweet perfumes. Consideration is due the irrepressible Poultney because he is a crank and a faddist who always flies off at one tangent until he discovers another that seems more inviting to his sensitive pen feathers. He is a hobby rider and as jealous of a rough rider as a real thing broncostick rider is of a fake hypnotist who coins money of the gullible in these degenerate days. No one is as sure of Poultney as he is of himself, and when Germany shouts "Prosit" with a raising of the glasses and a rebuilding smack on the table there is a gurgling guttural that does not have to be interpreted as a wise chuckle.

Dilemma of the Democracy.

From the New York Mail and Express.

In his search for an innocuous little candidate who will represent nothing hostile to himself, Mr. Bryan has got as far as North Carolina, where Judge Walter Clark of the state supreme court commends himself to Nebraska attention. Judge Clark is now regarded as an unexceptionable candidate. Perhaps he would be in North Carolina. But the Democratic candidate will not be from North Carolina nor any other southern state.

All the ways out of the Bryan-Cleveland dilemma which have yet been suggested by Democrats are simply so many new ways of butting their heads against the impassable stone wall that hems them in.

Talked of in New York.

GEORGE C. JENKS.

(By Private Wire to The Gazette.)

NEW YORK, May 26.—It is a fact well understood that a public man in New York who wants to be popular must be able to address almost any kind of audience in his own tongue. German, French and Italian are accomplishments of many ordinarily well-educated Americans, and in New York, particularly, it is a common thing for a speaker to hold forth in any of the tongues largely spoken in the city. Police Commissioner Greene gave his hearers at the auditorium of the educational alliance, on the East Side, a surprise today, when he launched out in an eloquent address in Yiddish. It was in commemoration of the 250th birthday of the city, a celebration which has been going on all day, and is still humming away this evening. There were 500 children recently from Russia in the audience and their roared applause as they heard the familiar accents of their native language. The commissioner smiled as he saw the sensation he had created, and he explained that he was a veteran of the Russo-Turkish war. His first observation was "Shraitzuite reliefs," which, in English, is "I salute you." He followed this with a few more sentences in Yiddish, and then lapsed into English. Perhaps he would have made his whole address in Yiddish, but many of his hearers would have been lost in the maze of that language, and for their sakes, if not for his own, he gave it to them in New Yorkese. Greene is a popular fellow with the youngsters of the Ghetto. They know that he is at the head of the police, and with their recollections of the autocratic power of a chief of police in Russia, it is natural that they should be charmed by his democratic attitude and his obvious kindness of heart. One consequence of the commissioner's outbreak in the Hebrew tongue will be that other public men in the metropolis will bury their noses in Yiddish text books. That is what Mayor Low said this evening.

Advertised for Helen Potts Hall.

Helen Potts Hall, the handsome young woman who said she was the adopted daughter of George F. Gilman, the millionaire tea merchant who died at Black Rock about a year ago, and who has been mixed up in law suits with his relatives over the old man's estate, is sought by a lawyer in this city. Her attorney knows where she is, it is said, and he does not intend to have his client annoyed by the other side. So there was an advertisement in one of the papers today asking Miss Hall to come forward, and it may be that the Gilman estate will afford New York some more material for gossip before the whole matter is settled.

An Attractive Figure.

Blakeley Hall, from whom Helen Potts Hall obtained a divorce soon after the death of Gilman, her adopted father, is a tall, powerful looking man, who is a familiar figure uptown. He is seen in the lobby of the Fifth Avenue hotel frequently, where he is sure to attract the attention of a stranger by his athletic build and distinguished carriage. He was noted the country over a few years ago for the brilliance of his writings. He used to write letters from New York to many papers outside, which sparkled with epigram and bristled with pungent observations on persons and things. His literary style was peculiar to himself, while his intimate knowledge of things below the surface of metropolitan life, made his letters always authoritative. He is the editor of a magazine now, and his own pen is the most powerful support it has, for everyone will read matter that is known to be written by Blakeley Hall.

Suit Against a Reformer.

Mrs. Grannis, whose sensational endeavors as head of the Social Purity league have brought her into the limelight from time to time, was mixed up in a bathtub row today. The specific complaint against her was that in leasing a house to a Mrs. Breese, Mrs. Grannis took out a bathtub and fixtures, with a chandelier and other articles necessary to the comfort of the occupant. The complainant, Mrs. Breese, sued for $249. The case was put over to June 4. There was much disappointment that Mrs. Grannis, with her historic bonnet, was not in court. The good lady is not opposed to publicity as a rule, but she did not care to come into court today because most likely she felt it would have been a waste of time. She has not done much in the way of lecturing of late, but she is pursuing her chosen work of reform assiduously.

McCracken's Start for Beirut.

Among the notables who sailed on the Kaiser Wilhelm today was Chancellor MacCracken, of New York university, with Mrs. MacCracken. Their destination is Beirut, Syria, where their son, Henry Noble MacCracken, an instructor in the American college of that city, is ill of typhoid.

Great Guns Make People Nervous.

Passengers who have had to pass in and out of the narrows are telling what it feels like to have gunners from Fort Hamilton blazing away around them with projectiles which weigh a thousand pounds apiece. The gunners are firing at targets off the Hook, but sometimes the 10 and 12-inch guns get a little wild and then there is excitement on board the steamers to the vicinity. None of them have been hit, but people who have to ride on them are afraid there may be a tale of devastation sooner or later, and the man behind the gun is beseeched to be careful.

Troubles of a Policeman.

Broadway policemen are complaining of the way their nerves are racked by the recklessness of women in crossing that busy thoroughfare. I saw a policeman at Thirty-fourth street and Sixth avenue this afternoon standing in the middle of Broadway, with his hand pressed to his forehead. I happened to know him, and I asked him whether he felt ill. All he said was: "Darn those women." "Darn" was not the exact word, however. He has just rescued twenty dressy maidens, with voluminous high heels and a free-for-all air, and he has deliberately stepped immediately in front of a Broadway car, and then had almost rubbed the paint off the front of a Panhard automobile. He waved his hand wearily then, as he actually lifted bodily a woman and her little boy from beneath the fender of a Sixth avenue car. No wonder his head ached.

New York Imitates Pittsburgh.

Riding along the North river to a ferryboat one may see how the atmosphere of New York has become clouded since last year. Soft coal smoke is the cause. By the strike of last fall many manufacturers were obliged to use soft coal or shut down their works. The health authorities were lenient and passed over the violations of law, seeing that they were virtually unavoidable. As might be expected, some of the offenders are still burning soft coal, although the necessity of it has passed away with the general resumption of work in the anthracite regions of Pennsylvania. There is a thick black canopy over the city now, and the tops of the skyscrapers are almost hidden at certain times. Now I can't say enough from the river anyhow, but with the smoke curling along the sky line it is hideous.

Harrisburg Expects to Get Busy.

From the Harrisburg Patriot.

For an off year the indications are that there will be a rush of unusual proportions for the Republican state convention. Even private homes are being drawn upon for rooms.

Ohio and Roosevelt.

Mr. Hanna remarks that, while he is positively not a candidate for the presidential nomination, the future occupancy of his seat in the senate is engaging his thoughts, and on that account the possibility of antagonisms resulting from an indorsement of the president at this time particularly concerns him. But, so far as we have observed, he has no cause for worry on that score. Certainly no formidable aspirant for his place has appeared upon the scene thus far. Still less impressive is the other personal consideration which he addduces. A declaration for the president by the Ohio convention would not be the act of the chairman of the Republican national committee, and would not even commit him unless he chose to be committed. It would be the utterance of the Republican party of the state through its appointed representatives, and we cannot see how it would necessarily embarrass Mr. Hanna in any way. But even if such private motives as those were really of the urgent character which he attributes to them, they could hardly be expected to prevail with the convention against the fact, so clearly presented to Ohio Republicans by Senator Foraker, that after what has occurred an indorsement of the president by the coming convention is essential in order to prevent a misunderstanding of their sentiments by the country.—New York Tribune.

\+ \+ \+ \+

It may be unfortunate that a contest has arisen in Ohio between the two factions headed by Senator Hanna and Senator Foraker over the indorsement of President Roosevelt by the state convention, soon to be held, and pledging him the support of the state in 1904. The movement for the indorsement is headed by Foraker, and Hanna is opposed to it; says there is no reason why the convention this year should do next year's work; that the idea is unprecedented and ridiculous, and so on, and so on.

The chances are that Mr. Hanna will find himself on the losing side of the fight. Because he is opposed to pledging the president the support of Ohio for next year it by no means follows that he is not in favor of the nomination of the president next year. He probably is. At the same time he wants to be left free to take advantage of any conditions that may arise during the year. On general principles Hanna is right; but the resolution will be pretty certain to be adopted by the convention once it is introduced.—Milwaukee Free Press.

\+ \+ \+ \+

Mr. Hanna, by his own declaration, is a Roosevelt man. Not only that, but he believes that Mr. Roosevelt will be nominated for president. His is the general view of the matter. The party is going before the country on its record, and that record since October, 1901, will have been made under the leadership of Theodore Roosevelt. All that Mr. Hanna is advancing now is that this is not the time for putting Mr. Roosevelt in nomination. Not can he doubt for a moment that interpretation will be put by the country at large on the refusal of the Ohio Republicans at his suggestion to do that thing? In the case of the slaver pension bill, he is opposed to the proposition, but is figuring as its friend and supporter. In the case of the president, while a friend, he would figure everywhere as an enemy. From Wall street to the committee rooms of the ridiculous lily whites of the south Mr. Hanna would be hailed as the hope of the anti-Roosevelt movement.—Washington Star.

\+ \+ \+ \+

Mr. Hanna has said that he "is not a candidate" and that he "will not be a candidate," but he has not said he would refuse the nomination if tendered him. There are Ohio precedents for a candidate being drafted into the service in spite of his vigorous protest. There is none for an Ohio man refusing the nomination to the presidency after it had been given him. Without impugning the sincerity of Mr. Hanna in his assertion that he has not been, is not, and will not be a candidate for the presidency, it is to be noted that some of his trusted political friends are acting precisely as if they knew he will "bow to the will of the party" should they succeed in procuring him the nomination.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

\+ \+ \+ \+

It now seems as certain as anything future can be that President Roosevelt will be indorsed for nomination to the presidency by the Ohio Republican convention. Senator Hanna's course in trying to prevent the taking of that action and the protest of the chief "trust" organ against the wish of the great body of Republicans everywhere to commit themselves to Mr. Roosevelt have imposed a duty upon the Ohio convention which, we have not the least doubt, it will perform with eagerness and enthusiasm.—New York Press.

\+ \+ \+ \+

The duty of the Ohio Republicans—duty both to themselves and to the party—is plain. President Roosevelt should be indorsed for renomination by the state convention. We must deal with conditions as they exist, not as they might exist, or as we would wish them to exist. There was a time when the question of indorsing President Roosevelt so far in advance of the national convention might have been considered debatable. It was when it might have been better policy for the party to have remained silent upon the matter, but that time is past.

Several of the minor politicians of the state forced a change of conditions by asserting that Roosevelt should not be indorsed—in one instance, for the reason that if this action was taken the politicians would lose the club by which he might be threatened into making such federal appointments as they desired. Upon the question of whether Roosevelt should be indorsed or should not be indorsed there can be but one answer from the Republicans of Ohio—an answer to the affirmative.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

\+ \+ \+ \+

As Senators Hanna and Foraker both favor the nomination of President Roosevelt, there does not appear to be any good reason why they should get up a contest over the time when it will be best or most expedient for Ohio to give instructions to that effect. They must have certain personal views to serve in that relation, but there was a higher duty to their party and interest afloat to subvert its harmony by injecting into its councils an issue that pertains only to detail and not to anything vital or important.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Elevator Accidents.

From the Detroit Tribune.

An elevator accident in Pittsburgh resulted in the instant death of four persons and in the miraculous escape from death by nine other passengers. It is an accident that should carry a lesson to every city where elevators are in common use. The best elevator in the world has its day of usefulness. It is subject to heavy strains and the parts must wear, no matter how good the material or how scientific the construction. These public conveniences should be subject to frequent inspection, not at the behest of a politician, who will take a ride, give a perfunctory glance and then declare

RETAIL LUMBER DEALERS UNITE

Pennsylvania Lumber and Supply Company is Formed Here.

THE CAPITAL IS $3,500,000

About 35 Plants Already Obtained by New Concern and 15 More Expected--District South and West Covered.

Retail lumber dealers, controlling 35 plants or thereabouts in this vicinity, have combined under the name of the Pennsylvania Lumber & Supply Company, obtained a charter and formed a temporary organization. At a meeting of the stockholders yesterday, Attorney George H. Hosack was elected president and Frank Pittfield secretary of the company. These are but temporary officers, chosen to complete the organization.

At the meeting choosing the temporary officers the capital stock of the company was increased from the nominal amount named in the charter, $5,000, to $3,500,000. At present $1,500,000 of common stock and $1,500,00 of preferred will be issued.

All the legal details are now being worked out by Attorneys Murphy & Hosack, general counsel for the company, and it is expected to have the organization in working order by July 1. John W. Bolleau is in charge of matters relative to its promotion.

TO HAVE FIFTY PLANTS.

While the company has at present only about 35 plants, it is expected to have about 50 plants in a short time. The work of absorbing the plants is now under way. The towns in which the company will absorb independent concerns include many in the valleys of the Monongahela and Youghiogheny rivers, and along the Pennsylvania railroad and and its southwest branch. Among the towns are Monessen, Duquesne, Braddock, McKeesport, Charleroi, Bellevernon, Monongahela, Donora, Uniontown, Connellsville, Dawson, Vandergrift, Mt. Pleasant, Scottdale, Youngwood, Greensburg, Pitcairn, Rice's Landing, Bridgeville and Washington.

In each of the towns the concerns now located there will have charge of the local business, although all will report to the general offices of the company.

PLAN TO MAKE BETTER DEALS.

It is intended by this organization that the retailers shall be enabled to deal more wholesale lumber dealers, and be in a position to protect their interests in any contingency that may demand united action. The purpose of the company was told exclusively in The Gazette about two months ago, when the plan was first formed.

FLOWERS FOR THE DEAD.

School Children of Allegheny Will Make Floral Contributions Friday.

A committee representing all the Grand Army posts of Allegheny City, appointed to arrange for Decoration Day exercises, met last night. It was decided that Post No. 128 will mark the graves of the dead soldiers in No. 1 section of Uniondale cemetery, and that Post No. 88, will mark the graves in sections 2 and 3 in Uniondale. Post No. 162 and the Sons of Veterans, will mark the graves in the Troy Hill cemetery.

A letter was read from John Morrow, superintendent of public schools, in which he informed the old soldiers that he had requested the children of the schools to contribute flowers for the soldier dead. The children are to take their flowers to the schools next Friday afternoon, when representatives of the various Grand Army of the Republic posts of Allegheny will be present to receive them.

PERSONALS

W. G. Love of Pocatello, Ida., was a passenger on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad last night on his way home from a business trip to Washington. Speaking of Pocatello, he said: "Our town is one of the most thriving cities in the United States. We now have a population of over 5,000 people, and every day more people are taking up residences in the city. The Union Pacific has large repair shops there furnishing employment to nearly 700 workmen. The Fort Hall reservation, which was divided into farms about a year ago, has been improved considerably during the year. A high class of farmers have taken up the claims, and although the ground is arid, yet the crops this season are a surprise, even to the government officials. A company has been formed to furnish irrigation facilities, and by next year the farmers will have ample water to cultivate anything that grows. Idaho abounds in mineral wealth, principally coal, and this is being mined in large quantities."

A party of Pittsburghers left last night for Nome, Alaska. Among them was R. M. Hays, who has the contract for the erection of the big fuel plant at Nome and a water plant for running the mines, and George H. Tooker, son of Frank Tooker of Newell's hotel, and a son of John Newell. The pipes and machinery for the plants have been shipped from Pittsburgh to Seattle. About 25 expert pipe fitters and machinists left the city on the 7:30 train and Mr. Hays left on the limited. The party will meet in Chicago today and will reach Seattle in time to reach Seattle in time to take the steamer for Nome June 1. The work will be done for the Alaska Exploration Company, in which many Pittsburghers are interested.

Benjamin Schloss of San Francisco was seen at the Monongahela house last night. He said: "San Francisco residents are greatly interested in the new pipe line just completed by the Standard Oil Company. It runs 300 miles to the oil district. The line consists of pipes 2½ feet in diameter and every 12 miles a pumping engine has been built to force the oil through. The company has tested the line and claims it is a failure. From personal observations I am convinced that the company could make the line operate successfully if it wanted to."

Gen. John A. Wiley of Franklin, accompanied by his wife and daughter, Florence, arrived in Pittsburgh yesterday evening and left last night over the Pennsylvania railroad for New York. Mrs. Wiley and daughter will leave tomorrow for Europe, where they will remain a year.

LUTHERAN WOMEN IN MISSION WORK

Big Gathering of Delegates Attend Bi-ennial Meeting of Society.

FRIENDS FROM INDIA

Bethany Lutheran Church Entertaining Women Who Came from All Parts of the Country.

The thirteenth biennial convention of the Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary society of the Evangelical Lutheran church began yesterday in the Bethany Lutheran church, in North Highland avenue. The convention will last four days. About half the delegates were present at the opening, and it is expected that today the full number, 200, will attend. The delegates represent Lutheran churches in all parts of the United States. Mrs. J. P. Krechting of New Germantown, N. J., is the president.

The delegates lost no time in importuning one another for votes for the cities which are their choice as places in which to hold the next annual convention. Next year will be the twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the society, and Philadelphia and Springfield, Ill., are competing for the honor of selection. The society was founded in Cincinnati in 1879, and holds conventions every two years.

The convention opened with prayer and praise services, conducted by Mrs. J. P. Krechting. Later which the president called the gathering to order and the credentials of delegates were received. Greetings were read by Mrs. John Weidley, wife of the pastor of the Bethany church, and Mrs. J. F. Hartman of Lafayette Hill, Pa., responded. Four returned missionaries were present, Mrs. Katherine Sahs of Madras, India; Miss Elizabeth Brewer and Miss Elizabeth Stanley of other Indian fields, and Miss Amelia Klein of Africa. When presented to the delegates they were loudly applauded and the session was suspended for 10 minutes while the delegates and the missionaries met each other personally. In the "heart to heart" conference that followed, papers were read by 22 synodical delegates.

The other officers of the society besides Mrs. Krechting are: Vice presidents, Mrs. G. W. Snyder, Council Bluffs, Ia., and Mrs. L. L. King, St. Louis, Mo.; recording secretary, Mrs. A. V. Hunter, Columbia City, Ind.; corresponding secretary, Miss Mary Hay Marris, Lutherville, Ind.; treasurer, Mrs. A. V. Hanna, Baltimore; historian, Mrs. Emma B. School, Baltimore.

At the evening session Mrs. G. W. Snyder, first vice president, presided. Among the several addresses made was one by the Rev. L. L. Uhl of Guntur, India, who spoke on "Letters of Greeting from India."

Mr. Uhl went to India as a missionary 13 years ago. He said a boarding and training school had been built, in which Indian girls were trained as nurses, and that there were 9,000 converts in Guntur, a city of 30,000 inhabitants.

Mrs. Krechting spoke on the needs of the society, the principal need being $25,000, she said, of which $1,000 had just been given by the Lutheran Publishing Company. It was necessary to help the five department secretaries appointed for the Philippine Islands.

After adjournment a reception was held in the Sunday school room by the young people of the church, who served refreshments.

MITCHELL IS SATISFIED.

President of Mine Workers Says Situation in Pennsylvania is Excellent.

INDIANAPOLIS, May 26.—(Special.)—President John Mitchell of the mine workers arrived home today after a trip to Pittsburgh and the east. Regarding the situation among miners he said:

"All is quiet in the coal fields, with the exception of the trouble in West Virginia. Everything is in perfect condition in Pennsylvania and moving as smoothly as could be desired. Of course, the West Virginia affair remains unsettled, but I do not fear any widespread results as the matters at stake are largely of a local nature and can be settled without involving any other state. My health is unusually good and I feel more like work than for some time. I shall remain here a few days. I do not know where I shall go from Indianapolis."

Vice President T. L. Lewis is now at Charleston on his way to the New River field, where he will direct the fight. Secretary Wilson says the strike has progressed satisfactorily so far.

A Noted Knight Templar Owes His Health to Pe-ru-na.

Colonel T. P. Moody, of Chicago, Had Catarrh Twenty-five Years and Was Cured by Peruna.

Colonel T. P. Moody, a prominent Knight Templar, is well known in every city in the United States west of Buffalo, N. Y., as a Jewelers' Auctioneer. In the city of Chicago as a prominent lodge man, being a member of the K. T.'s and also of the Masons. The cut shows Colonel Moody in the costume of the Oriental Consistory Masons, 32nd degree.

In a recent letter from 5001 Michigan avenue, Chicago, Ill., Mr. Moody says the following:

"For over twenty-five years I suffered from catarrh, and for over ten years I suffered from catarrh of the stomach terribly.

"I have taken all kinds of medicines and have been treated by all kinds of doctors, as thousands of my acquaintances are aware in different parts of the United States, where I have traveled, but my relief was only temporary, until a little over a year ago I started to take Peruna, and at the present time I am better than I have been for twenty years.

"The soreness has left my stomach entirely and I am free from indigestion and dyspepsia and will say to all who are troubled with catarrh or stomach trouble of any kind, don't put it off and suffer, but begin to take Peruna right away, and keep it up until you are cured, as you surely will be if you persevere.

"My wife, as many in the southwest can say, was troubled with a bad cough and bronchial trouble, and doctors all over the country gave her up to die, as they could do nothing more for her. She began taking Peruna with the result that she is better now than she has been in years, and her cough has almost left her entirely. The peruna has left her lungs and she is as well as she ever was in her life, with thanks, as she says, to Peruna. Yours very truly,

"T. P. MOODY."

Catarrh in its various forms is rapidly becoming a general curse. An undoubted remedy has been discovered by Dr. Hartman. This remedy has been thoroughly tested during the past forty years. Prominent men have come to know of its virtues, and are making public utterances on the subject. To save the country we must save the people. To save the people we must protect them from disease. The disease that is at once the most prevalent and stubborn of cure is catarrh.

If one were to make a list of the different names that have been applied to catarrh in different locations and organs, the result would be astonishing. We have often published a partial list of these names, and the surprise caused by the first publication of it to all people, both professional and non-professional, was amusing. And yet we have never enumerated all of the diseases which are classed as catarrhal. It must be confessed however, to see even this partial list drawn up in battle array is rather appalling. If the reader desires to see this list, together with a short exposition of each one, send for our free catarrh book. Address The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, Ohio.

DR. ALEXANDER ON COMMITTEE

Pittsburghers Given Important Assignment in General Assembly.

CONDEMNS MORMONISM

New York Minister Says the Church of Latter Day Saints Must be Crushed—Report on Home Missions.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

LOS ANGELES, May 26.—The young people's societies were given consideration by the general assembly today, and as a result of overtures from several presbyteries a committee was appointed to report to the next assembly. The Rev. Dr. Maitland Alexander, pastor of First church, Pittsburgh, was named as a member of this committee.

Dr. James Ramsey of Beaver resigned from the directorate of home missions. Dr. B. McCormack was made chairman of a commission to try a case of complaint from Minnesota, and Dr. J. M. Duff was appointed on an important commission on a case from Texas.

The subject of home missions and its corollary, evangelical work among the churches, occupied the morning session of the general assembly. The Rev. Dr. Holloway of New Jersey, chairman of the board of home missions, presented the report of that committee. It was as follows:

This has been a year of unusual evangelistic effort. Through the labors of the evangelistic committee, many churches have been quickened and many fields have had carefully planned services that could have had none but for the help of this committee. Two more synods—Wisconsin and Iowa—entered on the support of their own work.

Another fact of interest and value is the missionary campaign carried on in Eastern presbyteries, in conferences, conventions and individual churches. The needs and opportunities of the great home mission work have been presented by men from the field. There have been immediate results of quickened interests, and we believe an impulse has come from deepened knowledge which will tell in the far to come. The missionary spirit waits only on missionary knowledge.

The hold of the church on workingmen is not what it should be. The past year has signally illustrated the power of the workingmen at any moment seriously to affect economic conditions. It is believed that only the gospel of Christ can solve the grave problem which is thus presented to the country. It is of the utmost consequence that the church should be aroused to the necessity of doing more than she has ever done to strengthen her hold upon the working classes.

The Rev. Charles L. Thompson of New York delivered a long and forceful argument for the work of the Home missions, in which he took occasion to execrate the Mormon church, of which he said:

"It is not to be educated, not to be civilized, not to be reformed—it must be crushed. No other organization is as perfect as the Mormon church, except the German army."

The committee on bills and overtures, of which Mr. Van Dyke is the chairman, returned the resolution introduced yesterday regarding labor and capital, and constituting a board of arbitration, deeming it inexpedient to act on such questions.

A request for the passage of a resolution of condemnation with regard to the recent massacre of Jews at Kishineff, Russia, was read to the assembly, and a resolution strongly condemning the massacre was promptly introduced and adopted.

Moderator Coyle has announced his appointments of chairmen for the various boards and standing committees. They are as follows: The Rev. Henry Van Dyke, bills and overtures; the Rev. Dr. C. W. Van Mater, judicial committee; the Rev. Dr. R. W. Holloway, home missions; the Rev. Dr. John C. Van Natta, education; the Rev. Dr. Frederick Jone Stanley, publication and Sabbath school work; the Rev. Dr. Charles Payson Cheeseman, missions for freedmen; the Rev. Thomas F. Dixon, temperance; the Rev. Dr. Peyton H. Hoge, theological seminaries; the Rev. James Yereance, mileage; E. S Stranger, finance.

The Women's Christian Temperance Union sent in a resolution through one of the commissioners, which caused a broad smile among the churchmen and much amusement to the galleries. It read:

Resolved, That we condemn the inconsistencies of Christian people and Christian ministers in stopping at hotels where liquor is sold, and the employment from such hotels of caterers to serve in the case of social functions and banquets.

This resolution was referred to the committee on temperance, and probably will come up again.

New Smallpox Patients.

J. W. Weeks, 36 years old, of Millerstown, Pa., and Carrie Gilium, 27 years old, of No. 608 Humber alley, were taken to the Municipal hospital yesterday suffering with smallpox. James Carr, 32 years old, of No. 2121 Liberty avenue, was also sent to the hospital suffering with varioloid.

IN MEMORIAM.

HONORABLE B. F. JONES,
Born August 8, 1824. Died May 19, 1903.
One of the Founders and a Director of the Pittsburgh Trust Company.

It is fitting that this special meeting of the Board of Directors of the Pittsburgh Trust Company should have been called, as it has been, at this, the first opportunity since the death of the Hon. B. F. Jones, to enable us to give expression, if only a partial one, to our appreciation of his great services in the administration of the affairs of this institution; therefore,

Resolved, That by this minute there be placed upon our records an enduring testimony that his services may be held in remembrance by our stockholders, depositors and trust beneficiaries, as well as by his colleagues in the directorate.

In our association with Mr. Jones, we were always impressed with his high sense of personal regard for responsibility, which was the natural manifestation of his candor and native honesty. When in the city and at all able to be present, he was never known to absent himself from the meetings of the board, and when there he freely brought to every question the full benefit of his ripe experience and mature judgment. His practice in this respect indicated a high ideal that trust companies and other financial institutions should represent the business conedence of their communities and that their judgments as to credits and investments should be so conscientiously arrived at as to afford unquestioned assurance as to stability; he certainly devoted himself to this end for the institutions he administered.

Wonderful in his perceptions, logical in his process and clear in his determinations he was nevertheless remarkable for his consideration and courtesy toward his colleagues and upon those whom he depended for facts and the carrying out of decisions reached; we can never forget his unwavering fidelity to trust and withal his uniform respect for the opinions and sensibilities of others.

He came to the close of his earthly activity in the 79th year of his age, "full of days" in the amplest and noblest sense. He not only lived his years, but he did so in a manner worthy of the noblest type of intelligent manhood which he was; and this institution, with others to which the powers of his mind and heart were devoted, will continue as a lasting tribute to his memory.

COATS OF ARMS IN PITTSBURGH

Many Local Families Adopt the Crests of Distinguished Ancestors.

WOMEN ENTHUSIASTIC

Armorial Bearings Carried to Dress Ornaments and Embroidered Pillow Tops—How Blood Tells in This City.

Over 200 Pittsburgh families are entitled to bear coats of arms. In the blue book of the aristocracy of the United States, which is soon to rank with that of the peerage registers of the old world, no portion of the country will be more largely represented than the old Scotch-Irish settlements in western Pennsylvania. The pride of distinguished ancestry is no longer a mere fad among Pittsburghers, and many prominent families here are now using the armorial crest of their forefathers. Among Pittsburgh society women wonderful enthusiasm is being manifested in tracing their lineage to famous ancestors.

"Pittsburgh is destined to become one of the greatest cities in the world, and it was not founded and built by plebeans," said Harry Beverley Deas, genealogist with the American Genealogical bureau of No. 3603 Broadway, New York, who is at the Hotel Lincoln in this city searching the ancestry of well-known local families.

"The old aphorism that 'blood will tell,' was never more strikingly exemplified than in the history of the making of this great industrial center," Mr. Deas continued.

SONS OF FAMOUS SOLDIERS.

"The men who plunged into the western wilderness and built up a city here were descended from the best families of Europe. A few centuries before they journeyed across the rough paths of the Alleghanies their forefathers rode in armor on caparisoned war horses, to the romantic fields of Crecy, Agincourt and Poictiers, distinguishing themselves for their gallantry and true gentleness. The young men who today are working from the rise to the set of sun in making Pittsburgh famous and are building up proud names for themselves, are simply reviving the latent energy bequeathed to them by those men of old who fought in another kind of a struggle.

"The immigrants who came to America before the revolution differed from those who cross the Atlantic in herds in these latter days. No laggard possessed the spirit necessary for such an undertaking 100 years ago. In the eighteenth century it was usually the younger sons of noblemen who sought to carve their fortunes in the new world. Perhaps few people know that Andrew Carnegie sprung from one of the most distinguished houses of the Scottish nobility. Young Carnegie's parents were poor, but the blood was in the lad and when the opportunity presented itself, he was more than equal to the occasion."

SCHWAB OF ARISTOCRATIC BLOOD.

"Charles M. Schwab is another Pittsburgher of the same type. His descent is from a distinguished German family."

In Pittsburgh Mr. Deas found scores of families who use a coat of arms. The women cherish this distinction as a rare heritage and on stationery and cards he saw emblazoned the insignia which indicated that the wearers had come down from some of Great Britain's most famous warriors. Seal rings, jewelry and dress ornaments are being designed after the style of armorial crests, and in some Pittsburgh homes the young daughters are carrying the custom to embroidery and pillow tops.

A representative of the New York bureau will shortly sail to Europe to continue his annual search in the College of Arms, and in consequence new shields will appear in local coats of arms as more families are added. In Mr. Deas' room at the Lincoln, are hundreds of letters received from local people and he will make his headquarters there while giving information concerning the grandsires of the present population of the Smoky City.

DYSPEPSIA

"Having taken your wonderful "Cascarets" for three months and being entirely cured of stomach catarrh and dyspepsia, I think a word of praise is due to "Cascarets" for their wonderful composition. I have taken numerous other so-called remedies but without avail and I find that Cascarets relieve more in a day than all the others I have taken would in a year."

An Ice Wagon Used as Vehicle to "Cooler"

Transported to the "cooler" in an ice-wagon, is an experience that befell Harry Johnston, a negro, of McKeesport, yesterday. The patrol wagon was temporarily disabled with a broken axle, and when the officer into whose clutches Johnston fell called for the wagon, the liveryman sent the only available thing he had, an ice wagon. It took force to get Johnston into the ice wagon, but the officer finally threw him in on his back and held him there. The ice wagon was found impracticable and only made one trip.

NEGROES IN BONDAGE IN STATE OF ALABAMA

Kept Under Armed Guard, Whipped and Pursued by Bloodhounds.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Room 10, Postal Building,
WASHINGTON, D. C., May 26.

Slavery more abject than prevailed in many parts of the south before the civil war is being attacked by the federal authorities at Montgomery, Ala. Upon the evidence obtained by Secret Service Agent Dickey it is expected a dozen arrests will soon be made and indictments returned by the grand jury against local magistrates and white men charged with conniving to place ignorant blacks in a condition of servitude most revolting.

A government official who is familiar with the evidence which has been collected said today that the negroes were concentrated in large camps, the owners of which are thoroughly despotic, where armed guards keenly watch the laboring negroes and the lash is the threatened and inflicted penalty for an attempt to run away. Hounds are unleashed on the trail of those who do make their escape. A man named Robert M. Franklin has already been indicted for keeping a negro in servitude for at least one year. The cases are said to be somewhat similar to those in North Carolina several years ago.

It is said that the plan is to bring a poor negro before a magistrate on a flimsy charge. He is convicted and having no money to pay a fine, the white man offers to advance him the money provided the negro will make a labor contract with him for a length of time sufficient to reimburse him for the money and trouble he has taken to keep the negro out of jail. He is thereupon taken away and begins what is frequently a long term of cruel services, being frequently whipped for failure to perform work to the satisfaction of his employers.

KIEFF POLICE TO EXPEL JEWS

Those Without Legal Right of Residence Must Leave District.

FORCE MAY BE USED

Kishineff Delegation Visited Minister Von Plehwe, Who Declared That He Had No Anti-Semitic Sympathies.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

ST. PETERSBURG, May 26.—The chief of police of Kieff has ordered the police commissaries within his jurisdiction to institute a fresh inquiry into the legal status of the Jews and to forceably expel those who have no legal right of residence and who refuse to leave.

A Jewish deputation from Kishineff recently had a long audience with Minister von Plehwe. The latter denied being a Judophobe and said he had not opposed taking proceedings against the former governor of Kishineff, Gen. Von Raaben, and the local administration of Kishineff. The minister promised sympathetic consideration of facts set forth in the petitions of the Jewish population for future protection. Consequently, he suppressed the distribution yesterday of Kroutserans' new anti-Semitic organ, the Znamia.

The Russian laws do not permit of suits against the state for damages done by a mob, but the government will consent to the prosecution of negligent officials. It is not decided whether civil or criminal procedure will be adopted. The purpose is not to obtain pecuniary recompense, but it is hoped the moral effect of the prosecutions will prevent a repetition of the massacre.

An explicit denial appears in today's Official Messenger of the allegation that interior Minister Von Plehwe sent a confidential letter to the governor of Bessarabia shortly before the anti-Semitic outbreak at Kishineff in which he referred to the possibility of disorders there and the steps to be taken to suppress them. The paper says the reports were inventions.

BALTIMORE, May 26.—Dr. Harry Friedenwald, who has charge of the contributions for the relief of the Kishineff sufferers, sent by cable today $4,000 to M. Narcisse Leven, the president of the Alliance Israelite Universelle, at Paris, with instructions that the money is to be used for the benefit of Kishineff Hebrews only.

RIVER TOWN TERRORIZED.

West Elizabeth Burglaries Extend to Railroad and Bank.

West Elizabeth is being ripped by a gang of burglars. Two bold breaks on Monday night, following closely upon attempted robberies the night previous, have stirred the townspeople greatly.

From the baggage room of the Monongahela division of the Pennsylvania railroad there was stolen $1 65 which was in the till. A package of merchandise was ripped open and its most valuable contents taken.

An attempt was made to rob the First National bank. Entrance was effected through a window in the front of the building, but the safe, weighing nearly two tons, was not molested. It is supposed the robbers were frightened away.

Murderer Granted a Reprieve.

Shaw and six other members of the Veronica's crew, has been granted a reprieve. The other two condemned men, Gustave Raa, a German, and William Smith, an American, will be executed next Tuesday.

SUMMER GARDENS BEING RENOVATED

Boardwalk Resorts at Atlantic City Preparing for Visitors.

PROPERTY IS VALUABLE

Beer Gardens Will be Driven Away by Advance in Prices of Frontage—Several Big Hotels Will Replace Them.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Young's Ocean Pier,
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 26.

The end of the week will see a great change in the lower end of the boardwalk. All of the summer gardens are being touched up in anticipation of making a barrel of money by entertaining the great throng which will come here on Decoration day. There are five of these summer gardens on the boardwalk, and all of them have engaged a number of vaudeville acts to make things lively for their patrons, and the owners are looking forward to a good season despite the fact that for several years past they have made very little money.

If the proprietors do not reap a rich harvest this year they may never have another opportunity, as there is a strong probability that the three squares between Arkansas and Georgia avenues may be the location of three big hotels which are to be built by a syndicate of New York capitalists.

TOO VALUABLE FOR BEER GARDENS.

The Bowery is all that is left on the beach front between Chelsea and the now fashionable hotel district, and the land has long since become far too valuable to be used for beer garden purposes and the rents demanded from the men who conduct them have risen to practically a prohibitive figure. During the winter and early spring one agent of New York hotel promoters quietly obtained an option on all of the ground with the exception of two or three lots. When this became known there was such a rise in values that several of those who were conducting noisy establishments were driven out because they could not meet the advance the owners demanded. This improved the neighborhood somewhat, but at that it will still be Bowery until all of the beer gardens are crowded out by the building of big hotels.

ROLLING CHAIRS ORDERED OFF.

The agitation that has risen recently over the fact that for some time past rolling chairs have been kept in pavilions on the ocean side of the boardwalk in direct violation of a city ordinance seems destined to be quickly and definitely settled. Orders were issued by Mayor Stoy for the proprietors of the rolling chair establishments to remove the chairs from the pavilions immediately, threatening in case of failure to comply with the requirements of the law to impose upon the offenders the full penalty.

YOUNG EDISON'S FAME IS NOW INTERNATIONAL

Marvelous Results Obtained Through His "Vitalizer" Have Been Heralded Across the Seas.

NEW YORK, May 26.—A news cable from London received here today says: "So much interest has been excited in scientific circles by the reports of the marvelous results obtained from his Magno-Electric Vitalizer by Mr. Thomas A. Edison, Jr., that an invitation has been addressed to the young scientist by the medical societies of England asking him to exhibit the powers of his remarkable invention before them. The English newspapers in reporting this action remark that Englishmen, as a class, will be far more interested in the fact that young Mr. Edison's invention cures such intractable diseases as paralysis, rheumatism, locomotor ataxia and nervous prostration, than in the discovery that it quickens thought. The medical newspapers also refer to the Magno-Electric Vitalizer in eulogistic terms, saying that physicians have long sought a reliable remedy for the common and troublesome diseases which afflict mankind. They also commend young Edison's action in refusing to sell the Vitalizer to a mercantile syndicate.

Considerable public interest is being displayed in young Mr. Edison's proposed visit, and a program of receptions, banquets and entertainments is already being prepared for him.

"Well," said Thomas A. Edison, Jr., when he was shown this dispatch in his laboratory at No. 14 Stone street, New York, "this is news to me. The invitation referred to will, of course, come by mail, but I am afraid I shall have to decline it. Much as I appreciate the honors offered to me, I feel that I should be acting unworthily towards the thousands of sick people in this country if I deserted them now. Since the newspapers published my invitation to those afflicted with rheumatism, paralysis, locomotor ataxia, nervous diseases and all the other so-called 'incurable' complaints, I have received thousands of letters from sufferers asking my advice concerning the applicability of my Magno-Electric Vitalizer to the treatment of their cases. The people rely upon me for help, and trust to me to restore them to health. It would not be fair to desert them for the sake of foreign honors, and I will not do it. You can say, emphatically, that I am going to help my own people first. The American people have the strongest claim upon me, and I recognize their right. I want the people who write to me here, at No. 14 Stone street, New York, to feel sure that their letters reach me, and that their inquiries concerning the cure of their diseases by means of the Vitalizer will be answered. This would not be the case if I went abroad, and therefore I shall not go."

TELEGRAPH COMPANY GATHERING UP WIRES

PHILADELPHIA, May 26.—(Special.)—The Western Union Telegraph Company had 100 men at work today collecting the wires which the Pennsylvania Railroad Company cut down last week. The gangs are working between this city and Morrisville, where the wires, 28 in number, were of copper. The telegraph company, it is said, will not collect the wires on any other part of the destroyed lines. They were of iron, the officials say, and so worn as to be fit only for junk. The poles will be sold by the telegraph company for fence lumber and firewood.

HUNTED SLAYER AT BAY DREW REVOLVER

Tureinzo, Who Shot the Oranzo Brothers, Was Cornered But Escaped.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

FREEDOM, PA., May 26.—Leo Oranzo, who was shot last Sunday evening by Angelo Tureinzo in a street quarrel, died last night at the Beaver County General hospital. Antonio Oranzo, the dead man's brother, who was also shot by Tureinzo, is in a serious condition at the hospital.

Tureinzo is still at large. Yesterday afternoon he called at a farm house near Unionville, for food. He was identified by a farmhand, and was on the point of capture by a number of farmers from the surrounding neighborhood, when he pulled a gun, drove off his would-be captors and made a safe flight to the woods. A posse was organized to give chase, but their efforts so far have been without success.

In 1901 he was arrested by Maj. Glenn's orders, Gen. Smith and the civil authorities of Leyte approving, and was confined in Samar. Ultimately Galza was released. Maj. Glenn has reported the filing of the suit to Maj. Gen. Davis, who will probably refer the matter to Secretary Root.

MANY RECRUITS IN M'KEESPORT

Strap-Hangers' League Gains Big Membership in Tube City.

TOWNS ALSO IN LINE.

Crowded Street Cars Indicate That Summer Traffic is Increasing and No New Equipment is Added.

In McKeesport the Strap-Hangers' League in three days has recorded a membership numbering hundreds, and 5,000 are expected to join the forces united for better traction service. Throughout the Monongahela valley the people have taken up the idea of organizing to improve the street car accommodations and are showing even greater enthusiasm than the residents of the two cities.

"There are 50,000 people in the valley who use the traction lines every day in the week," said a strap-hanger yesterday, "and in this great number there is nobody who is satisfied with the present conditions. They are joining the Strap-Hangers' League just as fast as the membership buttons can be supplied and the enrollment made out. The offices of the Pittsburgh Railways Company have been wont to treat the 'kickers,' as they call them, with contempt, and it is here that the street car people are making a mistake. The patrons have tolerated crowded cars, filthy seats and a poor transfer system with wonderful patience, but they will not sit back and allow street railway magnates to laugh at the trolley passenger's discomfiture.

"In McKeesport the traction line is even worse than in Pittsburgh, and in the Tube City the strap-hangers are increasing at the rate of 250 a day. Next week they will come in at the rate of 1,000 a day, and it will be the strongest organization in the county. In Homestead and Braddock the same rapid pace is being maintained in gaining members. East Pittsburgh is in line. Swissvale is organizing and every suburb has been heard from.

"The headquarters of the league in the Schmidt building had callers this week who brought in several hundred names. The boroughs along the line of the West End division will be canvassed next. Here the success of the organization is assured. A branch opened in Carnegie a few days ago has started the ball rolling, and hundreds of West End patrons are wearing the little white button.

"With the running of summer cars the traction company added a few 'trailers,' and the word has passed around that the strap-hangers would have to get out of the business. This has proved to be a mistake. Three warm days this week have proved that the summer traffic will be heavier than that of last winter, and consequently that the suffering from overcrowding will be relatively greater.

"The warm weather relieved a few of the evils. It shut off the 'human toasting iron,' as the electric heater had been named. It is more pleasant to stand for an hour in the warm sunshine than in the cold blizzard of a relentless winter, but the passenger who has stopped to notice will observe that he is obliged to wait just as long for a car, except on two or three lines where The Gazette's crusade compelled the company to increase its equipment. It is a few of these evils which the league hopes to relieve, and it wants every street car patron in the city to lose no time in getting into the organization."

A patriotic display of strap-hanger buttons is being noticed in the windows of downtown business houses, where folds of red, white and blue bunting are adorned by a white button planted on each star. At every store and shop where this display is made there is a roll book inside where any person can secure a button and become a member by signing his name and address.

MARCHED TO THE MUSIC OF 1,500 INSTRUMENTS

Pittsburgh Commandery Had Right of Line in Knights Templar Parade.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, May 26.—To the music of an augmented band of nearly 1,500 instruments, the Knights Templar of Pennsylvania in solid formation marching the entire width of Broad street, passed in review before their grand officers this afternoon. It was one of the most remarkable parades ever witnessed here and was a most fitting ending to the grand parade of the morning in Broad street, and the countermarch north, in which fully 5,000 of the sir knights participated.

Broad street between Pine and Arch streets was the mecca for thousands who were anxious to hear the music of the combined bands and to witness the mass parade. Nearly half an hour was required for the massing of the entire parade, during which time the grand commander and his staff withdrew from the line and proceeded to the reviewing stand at Broad and Spruce streets.

Passing the grand commander, the knights passed at "carrying sword" only the commanding officer saluting. But the reception the sir knights received as they passed the stand was unusual. The applause from all sides was deafening.

Pittsburgh commandery, No. 1, of Pittsburgh, had the right of the line, and was accompanied by the Keystone Military band of this city. Sir Knight Henry L. Dixon, the eminent commander, rode in the lead, and nearly 200 of the sir knights from Pittsburgh were in line. Their superb marching and drilling were among the features of the day and drew forth rounds of applause.

Among the commanderies in line were Jacques De Molay, Washington, Pa.; Kedron, Greensburg; Mt. Olivet, Erie; Allegheny, No. 30, Allegheny; Tancred, Ascalon and Duquesne, Pittsburgh; Trinity, Bradford; Oriental, Johnstown.

A brilliant reception was tendered by the Philadelphia commanderies to the grand commandery and visiting knights and ladies at the National export exposition tonight. All knights appeared in full uniform without swords. Simultaneously with this a special concert and reception was given in Horticultural hall.

FOLKS WHO GET LEFT.

Some People Are Always Missing Good Things.

The czar, the pope, the mikado, Emperor William, King Edward, Queen Wilhelmina, the monarch of Siam and a dozen other foreign potentates are in town—not in person, but represented by exact counterparts of the emblems of their power—the crowns of the rulers of the world.

These crowns, shining with pearls and a-glitter with gems—twenty of them—are at Campbell's on free exhibition.

This is the last week—Thursday and Friday the last days.

After that they go to delight the thinking people of other cities—with St. Louis exposition as their ultimate destination.

Will you be one of the folks who get left?

URGES BIGELOW TO TAKE ACTION

Chairman Brown Asks Director to Do Something With Filtration.

NEW BOND ISSUE REMOTE

Additional Appropriation May Not Be Voted and Present Fund May Be Used to Buy Mechanical Plant.

Another attempt to solve the perpetual filtration puzzle is being made by the Citizens party leaders. Director Bigelow has placed the responsibility for delay on the filtration committee of councils, while Chairman Thomas M. Brown of the filtration committee claims he is waiting upon Director Bigelow before taking any action.

Chairman Brown yesterday afternoon called at the office of Director Bigelow with eight ordinances relating to filtration which have been in the committee since last September. Mr. Brown stated that he wanted to submit the ordinances to the director and urge that some action be taken on them.

Seven of the ordinances are for contracts for the building of a portion of the filtration plant, the total cost of which is $2,570,000 and the eighth ordinance authorizes a bond issue for an additional $1,219,000 to complete the plant, making the total cost of the proposed filtration system $3,789,000, not counting the interest. The seven ordinances for the contracts would exhaust the bond fund of $2,500,000, with interest, voted for the filtration in 1899.

TOTAL COST FIVE MILLIONS.

Chairman Brown said yesterday that it would cost nearly $4,000,000 to build a plant that would supply the city, exclusive of the South Side, and that an additional $1,000,000 would probably be required to provide filtration for the South Side. This would require a new bond issue of not less than $2,219,000 and make the total cost of a filtration plant, large enough to supply the entire city, in the neighborhood of $5,000,000.

Chairman Brown's plan is to call a meeting of the filtration committee, which has done nothing since its organization about nine months ago, and to report the ordinance for the new bond issue back to councils with the recommendation that it be sent to the finance committee. This would transfer the responsibility upon the finance committee.

Councils have authority under the new charter to authorize the bond issue or submit the question to a vote of the people. The latter course would probably be the one pursued.

Councilman Brown said yesterday that if the people refused to vote another issue of bonds, the money from the last bond issue would probably be taken to buy a mechanical plant or some system other than sand filtration. The contracts provided for in the ordinances before the committee are for the sand system.

LARKIN OPPOSES BOND ISSUE.

Controller Larkin declared yesterday that he was opposed to any more bond issues, for filtration or for any other purpose, unless some new source of revenue is provided to pay the fixed charges of a bond issue. By the fixed charges the controller means the interest on the bonds. By new sources of revenue the controller refers to a tax on public service corporations.

"We have already $5,500,000 of bond money lying unexpended in the banks," said the controller. "The city gets 2 per cent on this money, but pays 4 per cent and more in interest on the bonds."

Last winter the common council passed a general franchise ordinance taxing public service corporations, such as street car, electric light, gas, water, and steam heating, and telephone companies 5 per cent of their annual gross receipts. This ordinance went to select council, where it was referred to the finance committee of that branch and is still there.

SURPRISED THE ADMIRAL.

Much Impressed by the Improvements at the Homestead Steel Works.

Rear Admiral Charles O'Neil, chief of the bureau of ordnance of the United States navy, who has been inspecting the armor plate plant of the Carnegie Steel Company, returned to Washington last night. On the eve of his departure he was tendered a dinner by Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Balsinger at their residence, No. 409 Neville street. Beside Admiral O'Neil the guests were Mr. and Mrs. John McLeod and Dr. and Mrs. M. R. Ward.

Admiral O'Neil expressed himself as surprised by the improvements which he found at Homestead. He said that there would be no reason for delay in the shipyards in the building of Uncle Sam's new war vessels and that the country now has facilities for supplying armor in the largest contracts.

Carnival Shows in a Hollow Square.

In locating on the old Arsenal grounds, in the Lawrenceville district, the varied shows and attractions which will be the principal feature of the United Labor carnival, the general idea of making them form a hollow square around the old parade ground is being followed. The carnival is to open next Saturday, Decoration day, and will continue for two weeks. When all the shows and concessions are established and the decorations, electric and others, are in place, the grounds will present a very attractive appearance.

WHOLESALE JAIL DELIVERY STARTLES BRADDOCK POLICE

Braddock had a jail delivery yesterday. Chief of Police Thomas Broderick, with several officers, started out to clean up the town, and landed 15 drunks in the lock-up. About 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon, while at supper, Broderick was startled to see one of his prisoners pass the house. On investigation it was found that the prisoners had effected an escape. Hugh Crax, one of those arrested, is charged with the offense by Mr. Broderick before Justice Sullivan.

About two weeks ago the chief lost his key to the jail and Crax is supposed to have found it. During his incarceration his two small sons peeped through the bars to see him, and it is alleged that he told them where to find the key and release the prisoners. Seven of the prisoners were found, but the rest had not been recovered up to a late hour last night.

HELD FOR ARSON.

That Charge is Entered Against Colored Janitor of Fifth Avenue Building.

Walter Ferguson, the colored janitor of the Krieger Manufacturing Company's building at No. 616 Fifth avenue, who was arrested Monday night after the third fire in two weeks had broken out in that building, was yesterday held by Magistrate Thomas D. Stewart at the Central station for a further hearing on a charge of arson. He was sent to jail and will be given a hearing at a time yet to be fixed by the magistrate.

At the preliminary hearing yesterday Morris Krieger asked the Janitor "How did you know the building was on fire?" He answered, "Oh, I just knew it." He had been seen going into the building with a bucket of water to put out a fire on Friday, which no one else knew had existed.

Steven Volikas and John Driantafilo, two Italians, yesterday identified Ferguson as the man they had seen going up the rear stairway of the building and down the fire escape just before the fire was discovered. Ferguson protests that he knows nothing about the Monday night fire.

Grand Army Men Want Light.

Members of Post 128, Grand Army of the Republic, of Allegheny, yesterday called on Director of Public Works McIlvain to protest against shutting off the electrical light furnished free by the city. The veterans say that the terms of rental for the bureau of health, located in a building owned by the post, include free light. City Solicitor Porter will render an opinion on the subject. The light was furnished by agreement between the post and ex-Recorder Murphy.

Debt on McKeesport Church to Be Paid.

Arrangements are being made by the Rev. Dr. J. W. Miles and the congregation of the First Methodist Episcopal church of McKeesport to pay off a debt of about $5,000 incurred by improvements made to the structure several years ago. It is expected to hold a special service next Sunday at which Presiding Elder T. N. Boyle, D. D., of the Pittsburgh district, will preside. The Rev. C. W. Smith, editor of the Christian Advocate, will also assist in the service.

Round trip fare, 60 cents.

CUT IN ORE RATES.

Steel Corporation Charged With Subterfuge to Secure Concession.

CLEVELAND, May 26.—(Special.)—A telegram was received from Duluth today announcing that a wild ore rate of 80 cents has been established between Duluth and Ohio ports. Several charters were reported made at that figure. The vessel men immediately claimed that the charters were not regular and would not bind the market. A trade was talked of in which the steel corporation, which made the charters, had resorted to a subterfuge to reach the results.

The Gazette was informed tonight on most reliable authority that five going charters have been made at that figure, and while the names of the boats are withheld, the truthfulness of the statement is not necessarily assailed for that reason. The market has been weakening because of the delays to boats at both the loading and the unloading docks. The Steel corporation has been looked upon as the aggressor and was feared by the vessel interests.

MONEY FOR IRRIGATION.

By July 1 the Proceeds from Sale of Public Lands Will Reach $15,000,000.

WASHINGTON, May 26.—Commissioner Richards of the general land office has had prepared a statement of the fund set apart for the reclamation of arid lands under the irrigation act. It shows a total of $7,720,338 for the fiscal years 1901 and 1902.

The returns on the sale of public lands for the first three quarters of the present fiscal year indicate that the receipts will be about equal to the two preceding years, so that by the first of next July the irrigation fund in the treasury department will amount to about $15,000,000.

REJECTS CAR MERGER BILL.

Mayor Weaver Says Underground System Is Preferable to Elevated.

PHILADELPHIA, May 26.—Mayor Weaver stated today that he would return to councils without his signature the ordinance known as the "Trolley Merger Bill" providing for the merging of five elevated passenger railway companies and the execution of one bond. The mayor insists on certain modifications of the bill.

"Modern methods," said Mr. Weaver, "seem to prefer the underground to the elevated structures for street railway travel."

MAYOR PROMISES SOME REFORMS

Executive Told Ministers of His Plans to Purify the City.

HE IS AGAINST GAMBLING

Says Some Disorderly Houses Must be Tolerated or Evil Would Be Disseminated—The Sale of Sunday Papers.

Mayor Hays yesterday promised a committee of the Union Ministerial association that he would inaugurate a number of reforms for the suppression or repression of vice, but refused the committee's request to stop the sale of Sunday newspapers on the streets.

The committee was appointed by the Union Ministerial association and consisted of the Revs. Latshaw McGuire, Dr. E. M. Wood, R. W. Woods, H. C. Gleiss, Dr. R. J. Young, Dr. J. T. McCrory.

The principal things objected to by the ministers was the sale of Sunday newspapers and the tolerance of disorderly houses. It was the opinion of the committee that both should be abolished, but Mayor Hays and Director Harry Moore, who was also at the conference, insisted that the Sunday paper could not be properly regarded as a vice and that disorderly houses could not be wholly wiped out of existence in the section where they are now located without disseminating them in the resident districts where they could not be discovered or controlled. Mayor Hays said on this point:

"This administration has already declared against gambling devices, slot machines, crap games, and various pictures publicly exhibited. We know of no slot machines now in operation. The places which you suggest as being run for unlawful or immoral purposes will be promptly investigated.

"During the month of April and the first eight days of May there were 700 arrests and convictions by the Pittsburgh police for keeping disorderly houses or visiting disorderly houses. This administration went into office April 6. It has served less than two months. The work of the police shows our attitude toward vice of this sort."

Mayor Hays and Director Moore gave assurances that the illegal sale of liquor, especially on Sunday, must cease. Director Moore did not think the number of open stores on Sunday was rapidly increasing, if at all. There was a long discussion of the Sunday newspaper question, but the mayor and director maintained that they saw no public necessity for attempting to stop it and promised to assist in preventing the Sabbath morning disturbances caused by the noisy cries of boys.

ITALIANS IN A HURRY.

Wanted to Become Citizens Before Taking Out Their First Papers.

Several Italians appeared before the clerk of the United States district court, W. T. Lindsay, yesterday and asked for their second papers. It was learned that they had all come to this country after they were 18 years old and must apply for their first papers before securing final naturalization papers. When they learned that they could not become citizens right away, they refused to take out any papers. Lindsay took their names and warned them that they would be prosecuted if they applied for their second papers again.

The new law applying to naturalization will go into effect next Monday, June 1. After that date naturalization papers will be harder to procure. The fees have been raised and two witnesses are required instead of one. Clerk Lindsay has arranged a stiff examination that will be hard to evade.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BOSTON, May 26.—The list of sick and injured in the Pittsburgh baseball club today is the longest on record, and accordingly Manager Hans Wagner will be lucky if he has enough men to play the game tomorrow. The list is as follows:

Fred Clarke, sick at Cambridge Springs; George Merritt, right ankle broken; Harry Smith, finger split; Pitcher Kennedy, crippled by a strain; J. Sebring, struck on left ankle by wild pitch; Ritchey, lame throwing arm. The climax was capped today when Tommy Leach was called home to attend his sick child.

The accident to Merritt today will keep the general utility man out of the game for six weeks. The accident was the result of a fast first slide to second base. The injured player was carried to the Hotel Vendome, but the physician who was called in could not reduce the fracture, owing to the swollen condition of the injured ankle. Merritt will not be able to go away with the team Thursday night. After relieving Merritt as much as possible, the doctor turned his attention to Harry Smith and then to Kennedy. He says the last named Pirate is in bad shape. Kennedy strained himself in his game at Brooklyn, but did not pay any attention to the injury. When he tried to work today, the pain was intense and he had to retire. It is possible that he will be out of the game for two months.

Smith's injury is not serious and the catcher will be ready for duty on Decoration day. Pitcher Wilhelm arrived from Pittsburgh tonight and may face the Boston team tomorrow. Acting Manager Wagner decided to play Ritchey at second even if he cannot throw. This will allow Hans to stay at short where he is needed most, and Kruger will be assigned to third base. Phillippe will be the left fielder. Wagner used excellent judgment in handling the team today under the most discouraging circumstances, and the game was played without a kick. The batting of Bransfield and Wagner was terrific.

PITTINGER POUNDED.

Crippled Pirates Hit the Ball Hard and Took Game From Boston.

BOSTON, May 26.—A current magazine published an article on "Pittsburgh a City Ashamed." Could the writer have foreseen today's game on the South End grounds he might have held his pen and written something different. What the twice champion Pirates did to Boston was enough with substitutes in the game.

Capt. Clarke is sick and has gone home to mend. Ritchey has a sore arm. They were not missed. Just 16 hits for a total of 27 sacks gave the Pirates 10 runs. Boston doing a few stunts with the bat also got four. It was a slugging match, and Pittsburgh had all the better of it. When the visitors got tired of lining the ball over the fence and over the fielders' heads they took to bunting with distinguished success.

Four pitchers took part in the battle social; Doheny survived. The rest went to the stable, batted out of the box. An unfortunate accident befell Pittsburgh. Merritt, in sliding to second, broke a bone in his right foot. It will be a number of weeks before he will be able to play again. Bransfield led at the bat, with three two-base hits and a single. Oddly enough, he scored two runs. The game was distinguished for a complete absence of kicking, so unpleasant a feature of the Boston-Pittsburgh series last year. Umpire Johnstone had a perfect picnic. This is how the runs were made:

Pittsburgh was the first to score. With one gone in the second inning, Kruger tripled and scored on Smith's fly to middle field. In the third Beaumont was safe on Dexter's poor throw. Sebring flied to Batty. Wagner knocked the ball over the left field fence. In the fifth, with one out, Merritt singled and scored on Phelps' long hit over the left field fence. Doheny singled, but was forced at second by Beaumont. Sebring and Wagner singled, scoring Beaumont. Then Bransfield drove out a two-bagger, scoring Sebring and Wagner. The last score was made in the eighth. Sebring getting first on Dexter's error. Wagner singled and Bransfield scored both with his second double.

Boston's first score was made in the third. Dexter singled. Tenney reached first on Wagner's slip-up. Batty flied out to second, Cooley flied out to center, Dexter scoring. In the fourth Stanley walked. Greminger singled. Moran flied to center, Stanley scoring. In the fifth Tenney walked and scored on Cooley's double. In the sixth Greminger doubled and scored on Moran's double. Score:

NOTES OF THE GAME.

Hans Wagner and Eddie Phelps found that short right field fence in Boston, and both made home runs.

Bransfield was there with his batting eye yesterday, getting four hits, three of which were two-baggers.

Notwithstanding that the Pirates were compelled to present a patched up team they played the game to the limit and not an error was recorded.

The only Pirates failing to get a hit yesterday were Beaumont and Doheny. The others, however, made up for lost time and the way they bumped Pittinger, the old Greensburg pitcher, was a caution.

The champions are certainly up against tough luck as regards sickness and accidents to players. The latest addition to the hospital list is Merritt, who injured his foot in sliding to second base in yesterday's game, and he may not be able to play for some time.

Hans Wagner, as the leader of the Pirates, was not going to take any chances on the first game under his management being a defeat, and just as soon as the Boston batters showed a disposition to become too friendly with Kennedy's curves, Hans yanked the Bellaire boy out of the box and Eddie Doheny finished the game in good style.

MERRY BATTING BEE.

Hanlon's Players Had Fun With Cardinal Pitchers.

BROOKLYN, May 26.—Hanlon's men outplayed Donovan's St. Louis team at every stage of today's game, winning 13 to 6. The visitors made only three hits off Schmidt in the first six innings, scoring all their runs in the last three. The locals hit M. O'Neill freely and Lovett relieved him in the sixth, after which Brooklyn made only two runs. The base-running for the winning side was a big factor in run-getting. The score:

NEW YORK, May 26.—New York won from Chicago today 4 to 3 and the local men now lead the pennant race. It was an exciting game all through, but not well played, both sides being over-anxious. Mathewson was not at his best and made three wild pitches. Gilbert scored the winning run in the ninth on his double to left, a stolen base and Kling's low throw to catch him at third. The score:

THE TENNIS EXPERTS

Southern Players Are Showing Fine Work in Championship Games.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 26.—Heavy courts and slow work characterized the second day's play in the annual southern championship tennis tournament on the grounds of the Bachelor club.

The feature of today's playing came in the second round, men's singles, in the match between J. C. Davidson, the District champion, and Charles H. Karr. Mr. Karr was beaten 6-2, 7-5, but only after a warm contest. Another interesting exhibition came in the game between Wylie C. Grant of the New York Lawn Tennis club, and G. W. Kelly of the Mount Pleasant club of Washington. Mr. Grant won by the score of 6-4, 1-6, 6-1, bracing up in the last set and showing his usual good form.

In the women's singles, the play did not come up to expectations. Miss M. E. Wimer beat Miss K. K. Sewall, 6-0, 6-2. Miss M. G. Seawall beat Mrs. A. M. Kenyon, 6-1, 6-2.

FOUGHT IN PRIVATE.

Colored Boxer Hilton Lasted Just Twenty Seconds.

The action of the authorities in stopping glove contests has caused the followers of the padded mitts to pull their bouts off in private in out-of-the-way places where there is little danger of police interference.

Last night a bout took place in a storeroom in Third avenue, and the principals were Jack Bruce, who hails from the Point, and Elmer Hilton, colored, of Allegheny. The boys met at catch weights, and they were scheduled to go six rounds, but it didn't last that long. After 20 seconds of fighting in the first round Bruce sent his right flush on the point of Hilton's jaw, and the colored fighter went down and out.

The main bout was preceded by two preliminaries of four rounds each, and both were very warm affairs.

TAKE PART IN BOTH.

Bowman Will Represent Yale in Two Big Events.

NEW HAVEN, CONN., May 26.—(Special.)—Considerable trouble has been caused here by the demand for the services of Morgan Herbert Bowman, Jr., 1906, of Uniontown, Pa., the Yale all round athlete. Both Trainer Murphy of the track team and Capt. Winslow of the baseball nine are anxious to have Bowman next Saturday, when the two important events take place—the first baseball game with Princeton and the intercollegiate meet in New York.

It was announced today that the matter has been settled by Bowman's agreeing to compete in both events. He will compete in the broad jump at New York on Friday, his record to stand for the finals. He will then journey to New Haven, where he will pitch for the Yale baseball team.

Collins Signs With Greenville.

GREENVILLE, PA., May 26.—(Special.)—All the players for the Greenville team have been signed and the first game will be played on the local grounds Thursday with the Grove City college nine. "Ike" Collins of Pittsburgh and Peter Cline make up the pitching staff. Lincoln, formerly of the Buffalo Eastern league team, will do the catching. The other players are Roy Tate (captain), first; Garry, second; Fleming, short; Pier, third; Mulholland, left; Allen, middle; Murry, right. Two games will be played here Decoration day with the New Castle A. C.

EAST LIBERTY GETS GAMES WITH FAST COLLEGE TEAMS

Walter Grange Allows Wesleyan Freshmen But Two Hits. Niles Has Good Nine

The East Liberty academy nine, which has for some time been seeking hard game, will have about all it can handle from now until the close of its season. A game was yesterday arranged with Pittsburgh college for Thursday at East Liberty's park in Wilkinsburg and another was practically agreed upon with Washington and Jefferson college, to be played next week at Washington.

In Pittsburgh College and W. and J., East Liberty will tackle about the stiffest propositions in college circles in Western Pennsylvania. W. and J. has not lost a game to either a college or school team this year, neither have the Bluffites. It has not yet been determined what day East Liberty will play W. and J. Dave Ungrund and J. Hull will form the battery for East Liberty in both the college games. E. L. A. will play the W. and J. Academy nine at Washington Friday.

Walter Grange, the old Shadyside Academy pitcher and captain, was on the rubber for the Trinity Freshman team Monday against the Wesleyan Freshman nine in their annual game, and won, 11 to 2. Grange allowed but two singles, and he struck out 17 men. This game, which was played at Hartford, is a big event between the colleges contesting, and Grange was the "whole thing" in this particular contest. Grange is the regular pitcher on the 'varsity team.

For the first time since the summer of 1896 Niles (O.) this season is supporting a fast baseball team. The team is composed mostly of players from Pittsburgh and this section. Charlie De Moss of Allegheny is captain and playing short. "Red" Nagle of the East End, who was with Homestead a part of last season, is at third, and Grimzie of Charleroi on second, and Pete Haggerty of Allegheny, on first. Ortleib, who is catching, and Kommer, pitcher, are also Allegheny players. Bill Glassburner, another Allegheny youngster, is pitching and playing the outfield. George England of Allegheny is umpiring the games which are being well attended. Niles has not lost a game as yet, and the fans think well of the aggregation.

Charleroi Walloped by Glants.

CHARLEROI, PA., May 26.—(Special.)—The Cuban X Giants found Osborne for seven hits and a total of 14 bases in the first and second innings, giving them enough runs to win. Dobbert's home run in the fifth and was hit safely three times. Score:

MR. AND MRS. JOHN LIGGETT of the East End have issued invitations for a reception to be given on the evening of Monday, June 8, to celebrate their golden wedding anniversary. The anniversary proper falls on June 7, but because that day is Sunday the celebration will be held a day later.

The reception will be large and handsomely appointed, and will be of special interest, because of the prominence of Mr. Liggett and his sons in business circles and their identification with the growth and interests of the newer residence localities. It will take place at "Springwood," the commodious and hospitable old family home on Walnut street which is one of the few landmarks of the last half century still remaining in this section of the East End district. There will be about 200 guests, including, in addition to the relatives, the older friends of the venerable couple, who will be assisted during the evening by their sons, daughters-in-law and the older grandchildren.

Previous to her marriage Mrs. Liggett was Miss Frances B. Kelly of Allegheny, where her marriage to Mr. Liggett took place June 7, 1853. TO WIDEN their interests and to increase their influence, is to be the aim of the permanent civic committee this year. At a meeting held yesterday afternoon at the Twentieth Century club the women decided to extend their work over another department, that of domestic science. Their work heretofore has embraced various lines of civic improvement, educational interests and sanitation. The new department, of which Mrs. David Kirk was elected chairman, will be the successor of the Domestic Arts association, which disbanded several months ago. The work of the department is still in embryo but by fall the club women hope to be able to start out with well-matured plans, the scheme embracing a better domestic service and the proper training for such employment.

Covert who spoke of her recent visit to New Haven, Conn., where she was in attendance as a delegate at the conference of the Eastern Educational association. The plan followed in New York of having trained nurses in attendance at the schools, with regular medical inspection in the schools, was discussed and the educational committee in the city schools, with the possibility of introducing such a feature into the management of the public schools in Pittsburgh.

PHILIPS' DESCENDANTS TO HOLD A REUNION

Family Will Gather in Peter's Creek Church, Library, on Memorial Day.

Descendants of Joseph and Mary Philips, who came to this country from Wales in 1755, will hold a family reunion on Memorial Day at the Peters Creek Baptist church, Library, where their eldest son, the Rev. David Philips, was pastor for many years, and where his remains now lie buried.

Joseph and Mary Philips on coming to this country settled near Philadelphia, and on the breaking out of the revolutionary war their four sons formed a company, officered by themselves, and served through the war under Gen. Washington, who was a personal friend of the family. Some time after the close of hostilities Capt. David Philips entered the ministry and was called to the pastorate of the Peters Creek Baptist church, at Library, Washington county, Allegheny county not having then been created, in 1781, which office he filled until his death, in 1829.

This will be the second annual reunion of the Philips family in this part of the state, a permanent organization having been effected last Memorial Day, when a large number of the descendants of Joseph and Mary Philips gathered at the old Peters Creek church to place on the grave of the Rev. David Philips one of the bronze markers devised by the Sons of the American Revolution and provided by Mrs. Mary E. Clark of Idlewood, one of the Pittsburgh chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution.

There are a large number of the members of this family scattered through this part of the state. An interesting program has been prepared, and there will be some good singing by various members of the family, for which the sons of Wales are famous.

The Peters Creek Baptist church where the reunion is to be held is one of the oldest churches in this part of the state, having been organized in 1773.

This advertisement will be followed by another covering 200,000 acres. It is estimated that the proceeds from the sales will aggregate $10,000,000 or $15,000,000. The money will go to the Indians.

Wherever it is arranged in the plan of the architect, somewhere in the usual country house there is sure to be a big square hall, so called. This is really the place of general gathering. There is a winding stairway, a big fireplace, plenty of windows—some of them opening on the veranda—and comfort is the keynote. Just stop for a moment to observe one thing in this summer of 1903. How few ornaments you see. The more we eliminate small things from our lives the better we are; the more we eliminate them from our parlors the better is every one who visits us. Thanks to our Japanese instructors, perhaps, or to our own evolution, the passing of bric-a-brac, tidies, and useless ornaments is about accomplished. What vases are seen hold flowers; the candlesticks are meant for candles that burn in them every evening, the clocks are to tell the time, the lamps are to give light, the books to read. When we do discover a rare piece of work or glass or china, our eyes are not diverted from it by a dozen surrounding trifles that make confusion in our sight and chaos in our minds.

Bric-a-brac.

For this fashion let us return thanks, and then go on. The high wainscoting of the hall may be of natural wood polished and treated, or, what is highly in vogue, wood stained a color to suit the taste.—Harper's Bazar.

She was a very sweet-faced, well-dressed girl. Rather distinguished-looking, too, and her whole bearing betokened the best type of American womanhood, refined and gracious. But no one seemed surprised when she suddenly bounded forward and kicked the man in front of her on the ankle as he suddenly calling backward and thrusting her elbow into the mazes of the chiffon boa worn by the woman behind her. Then she gave a sort of pirouette and bent almost double and trod on the toes of some one who had been foolish enough to step up beside her. Then she pranced back and forth a few steps like a restive pony, and wound up her performance with a wild wave of the arm which devastated the hat of another unfortunate neighbor. But she was not insane, and the persons whom she had injured did not call a policeman and have her arrested for assault. Instead every one looked at her pityingly, because she was obliged to stand all the way downtown in a Bloomfield car, and her antics were caused by its wild jerkings.

On the Car.

There are many persons who tolerate at their tables very poor cooking, but it is just as easy to have delicious as objectionable food. A poor cup of coffee will ruin an otherwise fair breakfast. Many, who truly relish and enjoy a good cup of coffee, will dispense with all other accompaniment beyond a roll or toast. Use a French coffee pot and a good brand of coffee, which must be ground to quite a powder. Allow one tablespoonful of coffee to each cupful required. Put the desired quantity of coffee in the upper receptacle of the coffee pot and adjust the top strainer. The water must be freshly drawn from the cold water faucet, put on to boil in a clean kettle, watched carefully, and when it reaches the violently boiling stage at once poured over the coffee. Pour in the water slowly, to the desired proportion, and when it drains through, pour one or two cupfuls off and back again through the strainers and coffee. Let stand for a couple of minutes and serve. While making the coffee, keep the pot hot by standing it in a pailful of hot water until ready to send to the table.

A Good Cup of Coffee.

If you do not grind your own coffee, be particular in purchasing, to have it finely pulverized. The strength of this coffee may be reduced at the table by using milk which has been brought to the boiling point; and cream or condensed milk always enriches the flavor and quality of coffee.

NINETY DAYS FOR MANSLAUGHTER

C. L. Kurtz Gets Light Sentence for Killing Anthony Good in a Fight.

DEATH RELIEVES JUROR

Price Bros. Fighting the Erection of a Shed for Additions to Hotel Victoria — Tailor Says He Was Victim of Fraud.

Charles L. Kurtz, who was convicted several weeks ago of voluntary manslaughter for the death of Anthony Good, which occurred in February, was yesterday sentenced to the workhouse for 90 days by Judge J. A. Evans.

Kurtz was arrested in West Virginia, and Fannie Williams, indicted jointly with him, was accused of assisting him to escape. At the trial Kurtz tried his own case. The Williams woman was acquitted.

The transfer of the wholesale liquor license of Julius Hoechstetter of No. 1220 Braddock avenue, Braddock, to J. W. Vilsack, was granted.

The death of Alfred K. Stoneback, 39 years old, a clerk in the office of Collector of Customs, M. M. Garland, which occurred at his home in Ingram on Monday night, will cause the case of the Lazier Gas Engine Company against John E. Dubois, which has been on trial in the United States circuit court, to proceed to a conclusion with 11 jurors.

The announcement of the death was made by John Stoneback of Blacklick, Indiana county, the father of the deceased, and he asked to be excused from serving on the jury. The counsel agreed to his being relieved from further duty on the case.

Attorney John P. Hunter, representing Price Bros., filed a bill in equity against the Fidelity Title and Trust Company, trustee under the will of Joseph Patterson, deceased, F. C. Smith and S. H. McCain. The court is asked to restrain the defendants from placing any material on the sidewalk in front of the plaintiff's place of business in Sixth street or from constructing a shed between the first and second stories of the building occupied by them. The object is to add two stories to the Hotel Victoria.

The testimony in the contest over the will of J. C. Lappe, late of Allegheny, was completed yesterday in common pleas court No. 2, and the case will go to the jury today. In the report of the case published yesterday it was incorrectly stated that one of the witnesses was Mrs. Oscar Lappe. Testimony attributed to her to the effect that Mrs. Anna M. Gfeller, the contestant, had said the decedent had destroyed his will, and that Mrs. Gfeller would not get a cent, was given by another witness.

LEGAL BRIEFS.

Attorney George W. Acklin took out letters as administrator of the estate of Sarah S. Sloan.

The Henry Voight Machine Company entered suit against the Duquesne Ice Company for $82,090.96, alleged balance due for machinery furnished.

The will of Robert S. Miller of Plum township was filed and letters taken out by W. J. Miller and James H. Hamilton, the executors. Attorney John M. Morrison represents the estate.

The will of H. J. Murdoch was filed, with no value of the estate given. The estate is devised to the decedent's seven children and Dr. James H. Murdoch. Mrs. Florence Murdoch and Attorney John N. White are named as executors. The testator directs that his interest in the firm of Murdoch, Kerr & Co. be resigned for five years after his death and that Dr. John Floyd Murdoch shall represent the estate in the management of the business.

WILL ADJUST SCALE.

Executive Committee of Tube Workers Will Meet in St. Louis.

The executive committee of the International Association of Tube Workers will meet today in St. Louis to take action on the report of the wage scale committee on the prices of iron and steel tube work. John B. McDonnaugh, secretary-treasurer and national organizer, of Reading, was in the city yesterday on his way to that city.

When the wage committee made its report to the convention in Pittsburgh two weeks ago it was decided to refer the scale for iron and steel tube work back to the committee for revision. Their report asked for an advance of 20 per cent for brass and copper tube work. What the committee has reported for the iron and steel tube work McDonnaugh refused to state.

ELECTED OFFICERS.

Stockholders of Angeline Dock Company Hold Their Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Angeline Dock Company, a subsidiary company of the Jones & Laughlin Company, was held yesterday. The election resulted as follows: President, B. F. Jones, Jr.; vice-president, W. W. Willock; secretary and treasurer, John L. Moore; general manager, W. G. Pollock; executive committee, B. F. Jones, Jr., G. M. Laughlin and W. W. Willock; directors: B. F. Jones, Jr., W. W. Willock, G. M. Laughlin, H. A. Laughlin, James B. Laughlin, W. C. Moreland and H. S. Kiehl.

IN THE LABOR WORLD.

Local No. 66 of the International Union of Steam Engineers, will meet next Monday night to nominate officers for the coming year. A lively time is expected, as several have announced themselves as candidates for the different offices.

The painters, numbering 60, at work on the Westinghouse building, East Pittsburgh, are on strike. Two men were discharged and the others quit work in sympathy. They claim they will not return unless the discharged men are reinstated.

The officials of the United Mine Workers are determined to organize the men in the Irwin and Greensburg districts. With 30 organizers and a number of brass bands an effort will be made to bring the miners into the union. Daily meetings are to be held.

At the meeting yesterday between the executive committee of the boilermakers and the manufacturers, no settlement was made. The manufacturers offered an advance above last year's scale, but the men refused to accept anything but the $4 for an eight-hour day.

A Labor Day celebration will be held under the auspices of the United Mine Workers of America at Dravosburg Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. The meeting will be held at the Dravosburg Boat landing. Delegates from Camden, Hope Church, Aliquippa and Dravosburg local unions have charge of the arrangements. President Patrick Dolan, Vice President Uriah Bellingham and Secretary William Dodds will be the principal speakers.

Matters of interest to be considered soon. A canvass is being made among the workmen and nearly all are in favor of forming a local. A meeting is to be held this week to take action on the matter.

CARPENTERS CLASH ON ARSENAL GROUNDS

Brotherhood Men Refuse to Work With Amalgamated Union Members.

A strike was narrowly averted in the erection of the buildings on the Arsenal grounds for the United Labor carnival. In order to have the work completed by Saturday, it was necessarw to have carpenters from both the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America and the Amalgamated Society of Carpenters and Joiners.

Both organizations had men at work on the grounds before it was discovered. The brotherhood men refused to work with the amalgamated, and vice versa. The contractors argued that it was impossible to get sufficient men of either organization to do the work in time for the opening of the carnival.

After some deliberation it was decided that the contractor put the brotherhood men on one building and the amalgamated on another. With this understanding the men concluded to complete the buildings.

STRONG RALLY IN EASTERN STOCKS

Selling Pressure Was Relaxed and Prices Closed at the Highest of the Year—Improvement in the Local Market.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

There was a relaxation of the pressure of liquidation in the eastern stock market yesterday, and a strong rally took place in the late dealings, closing prices being at the best of the day. London was credited with the purchase of fully 40,000 shares on balance, and the higher quotations from that center gave tone to the initial transactions here. The general list opened ¼ and ⅝ per cent higher, and after some hesitation, which was accompanied by a slight reaction, prices began to harden and business to fall off. Even the rather unexpected announcement of the engagement of $900,000 gold for export to Paris had little effect upon sentiment. The professional traders felt that a reaction was long overdue, and bought cautiously. St. Paul, which has been the most disturbing element in the market, opened a half point higher at 168¾, which proved to be the lowest of the day, and steadily advanced, crossing 170 on the final sale. Pennsylvania opened strong and was well supported all day, advancing to 127⅛ at the close. Atchison and the Pacific stocks were favorably influenced by the reports of crop conditions, and the strength of the Erie and Reading helped all the low-priced stocks. The only exception was Rock Island, which after holding comparatively firm during the greater part of the day, became quite weak after 2 o'clock and broke to 38¼. Traders feared that a fresh outburst of liquidation was impending, and a slight reaction occurred in other parts of the list, but the lost ground was quickly recovered, and the market closed strong. The industrials shared in the improvement. United States Steel common opened at 30⅞ and on moderate transactions advanced, reaching 31⅝ at the close. The preferred was rather heavy in the early dealings, but later displayed great strength and advanced to 81½. The new sinking fund 5s were active and strong, advancing to 85⅝ and 86 at the close, a net gain of 1½ per cent, and the highest price reached since the bonds were admitted to the exchange. Amalgamated Copper was depressed by the decline in the metal in the London market, but the loss was subsequently recovered. There was some buying of United States Leather preferred on a report that at the forthcoming meeting the directors would recommend a $20,000,000 bond issue, a portion of the proceeds of which would be applied to the liquidation of the deferred dividends. At times during the afternoon trading became extremely dull, and the total sales were only 600,000 shares, a falling off of nearly 900,000 shares compared with the day before.

⊙ ⊙ ⊙

Unquestionably public sentiment underwent a change for the better yesterday. This was manifested in the outspoken views of some of the more prominent commission houses which have heretofore been conservatively bearish, but who are now expressing the opinion that the market is at or near the bottom, and that values are now on a level that is bound to attract the attention of investors. The liquidation has been almost continuous for five months. Prices of leading stocks are from 10 to 40 points below those current in January, and the average is below the lowest reached in the May panic of 1901. On that occasion there was a quick recovery, commensurate with the rapidity of the decline. In the present instance the recovery is likely to be slow, like the previous decline; but it would be accelerated if the public had the assurance that there were no belligerent financiers bent upon seeking revenge in the market. Evidently with the view to contributing toward this assurance, there were rumors current yesterday. Rumormongering, by the way, is not restricted to the bears. The latter had their turn on Monday. The bulls took a hand yesterday. Among the output was a story to the effect that Rockefeller was one of the largest individual subscribers to the Pennsylvania underwriting syndicate, which was cited as evidence that there is no friction between Standard Oil and Pennsylvania interests. It was also reported that applications for participation in this underwriting were so great that subscribers would be allotted only 50 per cent. There was also a rather circumstantial story from Chicago of the failing out of two prominent individuals, which was quoted in explanation of the liquidation in St. Paul and Rock Island stocks. Incidentally it was reported that a block of 100,000 shares St. Paul had privately changed ownership, which relieved the market of a load. In the way of fact, however, the day brought forth a large number of railroad reports covering earnings for the third week in May which demonstrated that there has as yet been no falling off in the volume of legitimate business. Louisville & Nashville reported an increase for the week of $127,000. Southern Railway an increase of $82,168. Wabash an increase of $98,365, Missouri Pacific an increase of $112,000, Hocking Valley an increase of $8,078 and Norfolk & Western an increase of $14,120. The Atchison report for April showed an increase in net income after fixed charges and rentals of $87,800. The engagement of gold for export and the loss of the banks to the sub-treasury had no effect upon the money market, call loan rates remaining unchanged at 2 and 2½ per cent.

⊙ ⊙ ⊙

The volume of business on the local stock board fell slightly below Monday's total, but it was well distributed. The improvement in the west had a sympathetic effect here, and in the majority of cases prices closed at net gains. The largest dealings were in the steel stocks. United States Steel common opened firmer at 31 and closed at 31½. The preferred after selling at 80½, rallied to 81. Crucible Steel opened at 16⅝, advanced to 17 and closed at 16¾. The preferred declined to 81, but subsequently recovered to 82, closing at 81½. Manufacturers Light and Heat was fairly active at 41 and 41¼, and Ohio Fuel Supply was firmer, advancing to 43⅜. There was nothing doing in Philadelphia Company. Westinghouse Electric was dull, opening at 96½, declining to 95¾ and rallying to 96¼ at the close. There was not much doing in the coal stocks and prices remained steady and unchanged. National Fire Proofing rallied to 25⅜ and reacted to 25⅛.

Bank and trust company stocks were dull and irregular. Federal National was weak, breaking to 164½, but closing at 166 bid. A small lot of Farmers Deposit National sold at 1,300, a decline of 40 points from the last previous sale. Union National Bank sold at 1,050, a decline of 3 points. Equitable, Real Estate and Iron City Trust were firmer and slightly higher. There was nothing doing in American or Colonial Trust.

PITTSBURGH STOCKS.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

The local money market is ruling a little firmer, and but for this fact there would be a more active stock market. Traders feel that the decline has discounted the worst that is likely to happen in the way of labor troubles and the latter is really the only disturbing influence at present. The closing of the purchase of pig iron by the United States Steel Corporation was looked upon as significant of iron market conditions, and there was some buying of the steel stocks based thereon. The strength of United States Steel new 5s in New York was also looked upon as a favorable indication. The price opened at 84¼ and advanced at the close to 85⅝. Pittsburgh was a buyer of these bonds in New York yesterday. Crucible Steel preferred declined to 81, which seemed to be more in the nature of seeking a parity with United States Steel preferred than anything else.

Pressed Steel Car sold at 85¼, a decline of 5⅞ per cent from the last previous sale some weeks ago.

The local coal stocks have withstood the weakness in the general market better than almost anything else, only Pittsburgh Coal common sold at 28@28¼, and the preferred at 87¼@87½, both closing unchanged. River Coal common declined to 16¼, and recovered to 16⅝. A small lot of the preferred sold at 39¾. There is practically five months' dividend accrued on the latter, 3½ per cent semi-annual being due in July.

There is still about two points difference in the market value of Westinghouse Electric stock and the rights. The demand for the latter is good.

Pittsburgh Oil & Gas sold at 84 and closed offered at that price. Fayette County Gas was quoted at 85 asked and Union Natural Gas Corporation closed at 102 bid.

The report was current in the east yesterday that a block of 100,000 shares St. Paul had changed hands privately. This was also cited as a bull card. Still there are few individuals who hold such a block of stock as an investment, and the necessities of such a holding must have been urgent to make him part with it.

The time for the exchange of the old Safe Deposit stock for the new, and the acceptance of rights, to which stockholders are entitled, has been extended until Saturday next.

The affairs of the Consolidated Lake Superior, in which some Pittsburghers are interested, appear to be looking up. Cornelius Shields, president of the company, made the following statement to the Philadelphia News Bureau yesterday: "In the meantime the new steel rails at the 'Soo,' which will be started as I expected, right at the beginning of July, will this year use 80 per cent of ore from the Mesaba district and 20 per cent of the ore from the Helen mine. This mixture of ore will enable us to turn out a rail equal to any manufactured in any place in the world. Two of the blowing furnaces are now completed and the machinery for two others is already on the ground, ready to be installed. By next year we will have made large improvements to separate ore from our properties in Minnesota, which is practically a duplicate of that found in the Lake Superior Vermillion range. This will enable us to dispose of a much increased quantity of the ore from the Helen mine, for which there is a good demand throughout the United States. This year we will dispose of close to 300,000 tons to different manufacturers, shipping it even as near as Virginia. The demand has been so great that we have even been obliged to refuse orders. The Helen ore is of a peculiar nature and has given very valuable when mixed with other ores for the manufacture of a specially high grade of steel, and on this account a good price is being secured for it. I am pleased with the progress that has been made since I took charge."

The story has been widely circulated that a pacification has been effected between the Gould-Rockefeller interest on the one hand of Pennsylvania people on the other. This, of course, had a tendency to restore confidence and to help the general market.

One of the most prominent Wall street commission houses expressed the following opinion after the close of business yesterday: "It is time, or nearly time, for the good sense of the community to prompt them to take an attitude upon the bull side of the market, and we believe that it will come. There may be some delay, and we shall probably have many days of dullness in the ordinary course of a trading market, but to those who have carried good stocks through the decline or who are able to hold their line of securities at present prices, we do not hesitate in saying that they had better remain in their possession rather than now risk anything by selling their securities. A judicious policy at the present time would be that of reducing lines to a point where if it should become still weaker, must in the end result in a decided reaction and satisfactory profit."

A Philadelphia interest friendly to the Pennsylvania railroad says: "There is a general impression that it would have been more advantageous if the underwriting syndicate had been formed sooner, and this is probably true, but that fact was developed by events and could not well have been foreseen. There is also concern on the part of some critics of the general policy of the Pennsylvania railroad as to whether the Pennsylvania railroad will be able to earn and pay 6 per cent on the new issue of stock. In the recent attack on the stock this was questioned, but I feel confident that the next Pennsylvania dividend would be at the rate of 5 per cent. There was no reason for cutting out such a story. The net earnings of the Pennsylvania railroad are more than enough to pay full dividends on the new issue of stock, and there is no reason to suppose that it will not do so in the future. The year has been a trying one, and liberal allowances for all the extra funds which are liberally provided for, and extraordinary expenses of all kinds, but $20,000,000 available for dividends is large and there are very large sums are devoted to extraordinary expenditures by the Pennsylvania, part of which the stockholders might have had, and there are some stockholders who think they are entitled to the same. But the general policy of the company has been followed consistently and the stockholders have had their dividends increased larger period of prosperity and have been further benefited by the large amount of money which has been put into the property."

The steady buying and comparative strength of the Erie in the face of a weak market is regarded as more than usually significant.

The April report of Wheeling & Lake Erie shows an increase of $40,736 in gross and a decrease of $9,408 in net.

Two railroad companies are said to have offered to take 65,000 tons of steel rails from the United States Steel Corporation at 28 a ton, provided the corporation could begin delivery in June instead of July, as at present, and complete delivery within the year. The offer was declined by the corporation on the ground that it could not promise delivery of any portion of the 650,000 tons before the first part of next year. As the order for 650,000 tons at $28 a ton would aggregate $1,820,000, the fact that the corporation could not execute it is additional confirmation of the statement that the steel rail capacity of all the rail mills is not yet equal to the demands.

Showing the completion of a quarter century of useful and prosperous existence the 1903 edition of the Manual of Statistics more than ever commends itself to financial, commercial and industrial circles. The current issue is in no essential respect behind the times, and in the special fields that are embraced within its scope. The general arrangement of the volume substantially enhances its attractiveness and usefulness. Condensed and yet all embracing in it would be easily accessible, but the voluminous subjects with which it is equipped makes all its information quickly available. The booklet avoids small type, is printed in handsome legible type, so that it is easy and not tiring to read. Its binding is substantial and pleasing to the eye as befits a work that is to be handled often by those who possess it. The Manual of Statistics, 1,044 pages, 8½x5. Price, $5. The Manual of Statistics Company, 226 Broadway, New York.

PAY $135,000 FOR WOOD STREET LOT

Thomas Wightman Gets the Bosworth Property at No. 606.

NEW STREET CAR LINE

Webster Avenue Sale of $28,000, and Fifth Avenue Deal of $35,000—Woodlawn Cemetery to Be Opened This Summer.

One of the few remaining properties for sale in Wood street was disposed of yesterday through the Commonwealth Real Estate and Trust Company for $135,000. It belonged to Giles B. Bosworth and was purchased by Thomas Wightman as an investment. It is No. 606 in the south side of the street, the second door east of the German National bank. It measures 25x120 feet to Church alley. The four-story building on the lot is tenanted by Curry & Shaw, wholesale grocers. There is only one other lot of the same depth in Wood street, so that the price paid, $5,400 a front foot or $41 54 a square foot, is considered reasonable. This sale, with that of the Bank of Commerce building at Wood street and Sixth avenue, shows how the buying fever is spreading toward Liberty avenue, and recent inquiries indicate that this may be quite a center of realty activity the next few months.

WILL BE UP TO COUNCIL.

An ordinance has been prepared and will probably be introduced in the Bellevue council at its next meeting asking that the Bellevue and Perrysville Street Railway Company, otherwise the Pittsburgh Railways Company, be granted a franchise for its new line from Bellevue to Perrysville avenue. Several routes have been suggested for the proposed line, and some rights of way were recently secured. The route detailed in the new ordinance is entirely new and is as follows: Out Thomas street to Forest avenue, Cleveland street, to the township road and thence to the borough line. From the intersection of Forest avenue and Caroline street the cars will run out Caroline street to Sprague avenue, to North avenue and to the borough line of Bellevue, to Union avenue, to Orchard street, to Thomas street and back to Forrest avenue. One fare will be charged from Pittsburgh to Bellevue by the new line. It is reported that if the franchise is received the company will begin building at once.

GOOD SALE ON HILL.

C. C. Hamilton has sold through the Real Estate Trust Company Nos. 516-518 Webster avenue for $28,000. They formerly belonged to Miss Anna McKenna and were purchased by a local business man. The lot measures 43x110 feet in the south side of the avenue between Chatham street and Sixth avenue and has a number of brick and frame buildings upon it.

Through H. M. Berman of the Merchants Savings Trust Company, Simon Berkman of Erie, Pa., has sold to H. Rosenthal & Co. Nos. 1711-1715 Fifth avenue for $35,000. One month ago Mr. Berkman bought the property for $30,000, so that the sale nets him $5,000. The lot is 40x90 feet and has on it a two-story brick building.

John Laughlin has bought from Lee E. Graham of Los Angeles a plot 121x121 feet at the southwest corner of Negley avenue and Friendship avenue, Twentieth ward, for $15,000.

Mrs. Lincoln has sold to Marie L. Girard a residence property, 33x150 feet, in the east side of Atlantic avenue near Friendship avenue, Twentieth ward, for $11,000.

NO DELAY ALLOWED.

Woodlawn, the new cemetery to be located in Penn avenue extension, near Wilkinsburg, is likely to be opened the present summer. The entire capitalization of the Woodlawn Cemetery association has been subscribed in shares of $50 each, barring the last few of some of these shares have sold at $51 each and the demand for stock is on the increase. The cemetery site, which was bought three months ago, comprises 85 acres, and has a frontage of 850 feet on the south side of Penn avenue. The land and improvements contemplated will cost $300,000. It is estimated that 36,000 square feet can be utilized on every acre, which at $1.50 a square foot will bring in $54,000 an acre. One-half of this will go to the stockholders and the other half will by law be used for the maintenance and improvement of the grounds. Hundreds of trees and long rows of shrubbery have been planted during the last few weeks and a large granite monument will soon be erected as a memorial to the dead soldiers. The work of grading driveways and walks is already well under way and by August 1 the new cemetery will be one of the most attractive spots about Pittsburgh.

BROKERS MADE KNOWN.

The Union Realty Company proves to have been the brokers in the sale of the McCune & Swartz property at Nos. 327-331 Eighth avenue, Homestead, the sale of which was noted in The Gazette yesterday. The Shelly Drygoods Company, which bought the property, will enlarge the present one-story building for a department store.

The deeds have been delivered to J. J. Rattigan of Homestead, the buyer of the Huselton farm, the sale of which for $525,000 was published exclusively in The Gazette several weeks ago. With Mr. Rattigan are associated a number of capitalists from Duquesne and Pittsburgh. The farm, 128 acres, lies just west of Duquesne and east of Kennywood park, on the Homestead division of the Pittsburgh Railways Company. It will be plotted and put on the market this summer.

Architects Vrydaugh & Wolfe have awarded the general contract for the J. H. Fisher residence to the A. and R. Bruno Company. The house will be built in Thomas street, Homewood, and will cost $40,000. It will be one of the finest examples of the English country style of architecture to be found in Pittsburgh.

TWO LAWRENCEVILLE DEALS.

Two sales in the Lawrenceville district have been made through the agency of Thomas McCaffrey. For Elias Horan he sold to Capt. Kilgallon No. 3008 Penn avenue, Twelfth ward, for $15,300. A three-story brick store and dwelling and a court of three brick houses in the rear, stand on the lot, which measures 24x130 feet. These rent for $90 a month. The property was bought for a hotel site.

The other sale was that of the William Hopkins property, which Mr. McCaffrey sold through the executor, Isaac Reese, to Albert J. Logan for $10,000. It consists of four brick houses on a lot 31.5x100 feet, at Nos. 2825-2827 Liberty avenue.

Isaac and Henry Kaufmann have sold to a local builder a frontage of 317 feet on the west side of Heberton avenue, Nineteenth ward, for $18,000. The property is making of 130 feet and extends along Heberton avenue from Stewart street to Wellesley avenue. Eight brick houses are to be erected on the site.

Margaretta street: S. Arnold sold for Joseph L. Kelly to Mrs. Elizabeth A. Hawdon an eight-room brick house, lot 30x95 feet, at the southeast corner of Margaretta and St. Clair streets, Nineteenth ward, for $7,800. The same broker sold for Mrs. Elizabeth A. Hawden to Jacob Friedman No. 40 Townsend street, Eighth ward, an eight-room house on lot 20x100 feet, for $4,600.

Dearborn street: Kane, Page & Co. sold for Ellen Connahan to George F. Kellerman an improved lot 20x100 feet, on the north side of Dearborn street, for $4,200.

Braddock: Ex-Burgess John Brennan sold to Mrs. Mary Glen his residence at the corner of Fourth street and Miller avenue, Braddock, for $5,500. The house is a 12-room brick on lot 40x100 feet.

ARONSON'S NEW HOME.

Handsome Quarters for an Up-to-Date Realty Company Formally Opened.

In striking contrast to its start in a one-room office one year ago, was the opening day of the Aronson Realty Company in the Aronson building at Fifth avenue and Tunnel street, yesterday. Instead of a dingy back office, the company showed its visitors a large general office and banking room on the first floor with private offices opening from it and eight spacious offices on the second floor for the use of their salesmen. All day long crowds of visitors thronged in to see the quarters, which were beautifully decorated with flowers, and until a late hour last night an orchestra supplied music for the occasion.

The Aronson Realty Company was lately incorporated with a capital of $100,000 all of which is paid in and is controlled by the Aronson brothers. I. Leonard Aronson of the law firm of Aronson & Aronson, is president of the company, and H. M. Aronson is secretary and treasurer. The real estate department is in charge of Jacob H. Aronson, assisted by Alfred E. Seydl. A force of 19 salesmen is employed. The company has sprung an innovation in dealing with its patrons by placing Miss Asia E. Wilson in charge of the branch real estate department, so that women going to the firm to deal will have a competent woman to fill their wants. Daniel S. Levy, with a staff of 16 solicitors handles the insurance business of the company. The renting business, which includes 600 leases, which bring in $15,000 a month from the 600 tenants, is in charge of D. E. McMillan. The company will have its own advertising bureau managed by Harold B. Robinson and will get out advertising novelties frequently.

In connection with the real estate company business a private banking business has been started by the Aronson Bros. Company. Charles W. Wray, formerly cashier of the First National bank of Greenville, is cashier, and Max Pinswell will have charge of the foreign exchange department. The bank will pay 4 per cent on savings accounts, over $100 of which were opened yesterday.

The company has been very active in dealing in "hump" and "hill" real estate the past year, and within that time prices have increased fully 25 per cent on an average in this territory. To facilitate their dealings with the Jewish, Polish and Italian residents of these wards, an information bureau has been established and foreign drafts, steamship tickets, etc., will be handled. The building occupied by the Aronsons has lately been remodeled at a cost of $9,800 and is in every way an attractive and convenient business home.

GRAIN MARKET SHOWS MUCH STRONGER TONE

Advance in Quotations for Oats and Shelled Corn. Strawberries Plenty.

A stronger feeling prevails throughout the grain market, and prices for oats have gone forward once more. The 1c advance of Monday was followed by another of the same amount yesterday, due to continued lightness of receipts. Ear corn was influenced partly by the limited arrivals and partly by a strong-er western market, where quotations have gone forward. White middlings are higher, selling yesterday up to $21, with very few coming forward. No. 2 timothy hay advanced 50c a ton, and the market is strong. Very little hay is coming to this market at the present time, and quotations are exceedingly stiff. During the slut in the situation a few weeks ago buyers stocked up heavily, and are consequently fairly well supplied just now, with very few coming in, only limited quantities. It is expected that before very long they will find their stocks so reduced they will be again in the market, and then an advance will along. Rains in nearly all parts of recent rains have helped hay some, there is little doubt that the crop of the year will be short.

No changes were made in grocery staples yesterday, and quick sales passed fromerday in most lines. Flour is steady, coffee is unchanged, and sugar is holding its own at the recent advance. Beans rule very strong, and are likely to go still higher. Fresh fruits and dealers to put quotations up above present level. No change was made in canned goods this week, although packers are talking higher prices. Farmers claim the recent rainfall has revived peas to a great extent, and tomatoes can be planted now with expectation of a full yield.

Maryland strawberries are commencing to show up in very much better quality, arrivals from that state yesterday being the best that have come in this season. Berries were good property, and prices obtained during the morning were in some instances better than quoted. A quick has been the revival since the arrival of rain that there is hope of fuller crops from nearby than growers expected possible. String beans are plentiful and a little easier. Wax bile beans are scarce and higher. New bunch beets are now taking the place of old at higher prices.

Bananas are in limited supply just now, and quotations are higher. Pineapples are strong, and oranges are steady, just about holding their own. Cuban pineapples are a little easier. California cherries are due here today in larger quantities, and lower prices.

Prices for eggs throughout the country are a trifle easier, but dealers are compelled to maintain old quotations owing to greater loss in packages since the coming of warm weather. Poultry is selling at same figures as at the opening of the week. Chickens continue to come forward in limited amount only.

HAY, GRAIN AND FEED.

HORSE MARKET.

There was nothing of special feature in the horse market yesterday, but on active condition for draught horses of all grades. Over 100 head were sold at auction and buyers were out in force, snapping up bargains and purchasing freely of stock of all kinds. Stock-stores are in the market for poorer grades, while heavy draught horses find ready sale for local trade. Prices are also in the city looking for stock.

Retail selling continues steady, with no unusual activity, but a very good trade is looked for good horses. Supplies are fairly plentiful, but there is a market for all offerings.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

The Grandby Company has recently made a decided innovation in the methods of mining in British Columbia by the introduction of a steam shovel in connection with the handling of ore at the Knob Hill mines. It is mounted on traction wheels and has a clever capacity of three-quarters of a cubic yard of ore, or one and one-half tons. In a day of 10 hours it will handle from 1,000 to 1,500 tons of ore, or from 500 to 750 yards.

Willard F. Snyder, president and general manager of the Western Exploration Company, has announced that the company has secured an option on the Bahkalala copper mines in Shasta county, Cal., consisting of 64 claims, in which more than 2,000,000 tons of ore-carrying copper, gold and silver are said to be in sight. The property has been incorporated under the laws of Nevada for $20,000,000 as the Bahkalala Consolidated Copper Company, the capitalization to be divided into 2,000,000 shares of the par value of $10 each. F. L. Kimberly is president; C. A. Malm of San Francisco, vice president and treasurer; Wm. Reid Jr. Sparks, general manager.

Fred B. Glover, managing director of the Merchant Mines Company, owning the Glover-wood, in Tomiko, has arranged with the Canadian Pacific railroad for the construction of a spur from the Deadwood branch of the main line to the mine. The spur will be a distance of about 2,000 feet. The Merchant has entered into an agreement with the Montreal & Boston Copper Company whereby that company is to take the entire output of the mine for its Boundary Falls smelter, a minimum of 100 tons and a maximum of 200 tons a day, being the output agreed upon. The Montreal & Boston Company purchased from by the Washington Water Power Company of Spokane through the Canon & Alonzo will work a recession to the milling industry of the district. The mine transportation between will be the mountain stage in the form of operation the mines. The power will be sold to the different properties at $36 per horse power per year. This is less than one-half what the water companies are paying under the use of steam.

Lynch and associates, leasing on the north end of the Rhea Bird, on Bull Run, have made a discovery of a body of ore 600 feet wide, where there is showing over two feet of rock that assays as high as $200 to the ton. A 20-ton shipment that will easily average $50 per ton will be made next week. Very little ore was taken in sorting in on the main workings where very rich ore is being mined at a depth below the 1,200-foot level.

TENDENCY TOWARD CREATION OF ENGLISH MIDDLE PARTY

One That Will Give Moderate Protection Within Empire Wanted.

BALFOUR NOT IN FAVOR

Bridge Whist Continues to Fascinate Men and Women and to Cause Scandals in Fashionable Society.

Special Correspondence of the Gazette.

LONDON, May 16.—The leisurely process of transforming the old political parties which have ruled Britain for a hundred years continues to develop. The government has won the Preston election. Preston, which was represented by the late Mr. Hanbury, as a Lancashire borough, in which the influence of the Stanleys, of which the head is the Earl of Derby, and many old Catholic families is largely predominant. Preston is one of the safest, if not the safest, seat in England for a Conservative. Mr. Hanbury at the last two elections received a majority of over 4,000.

The successful candidate on Thursday was a great employer of labor, a resident, and of exceptional influence and popularity. He retained the seat, but he lost half of Mr. Hanbury's majority. No Liberal was opposed to him. The labor candidate, Mr. Hodge, who is a Socialist, a trades unionist and a class representative, increased the labor vote from 4,800 to 6,500. There is thus a great loss of ministerial votes, and a great gain on the part of organized labor. This increase in the strength of the labor vote in the British empire as a phenomenon that deserves attention on both sides of the Atlantic.

SWING TOWARDS PROTECTION.

In Great Britain at the present time the swing of the pendulum is in the direction of the formatiin of a party that will give to the country moderate protection within the empire and administrative efficiency. The present party machinery, both of the Conservatives and the Liberals, gives no means of testing public interest in a new issue. It is generally felt that in parliament the labor vote is inadequately represented, just as in Australia it is over represented. The consequence is a tendency to pass over the Liberal candidate and to substitute a labor man. The country is waiting for sane and far-reaching reform in the direction of efficient government. That end can only be attained by the complete reconstruction and reorganization of parties. The labor group does not meet the want. It seeks the interest of a class, not of a nation.

The tide of public opinion is running against drift, Balfourism, sacerdotalism and the Cecils. The country resents the Venezuelan agreement with Germany, and the attempt of Lord Lansdowne to commit the country to the Bagdad scheme. The country resents the army corps project of Mr. Brodrick. It resents the action of the government in the London and Globe affair, where the law officers of the crown declared there was no case for prosecuting Whitaker Wright, and then, within a week, were compelled to undertake extradition proceedings for the purpose of prosecuting him. The country resents the reactionary legislation on educational questions, because, in their heart of hearts, Englishmen loathe priestly government, however good the priests, and however pure the church of which they are the ministers.

CHAMBERLAIN AND ROSEBERY.

The signs of the times all point to the abandonment of the old shibboleths, to the formation of new ideals and to the creation of a middle party. The junction of Mr. Chamberlain and Lord Rosebery is regarded by the most sensible men as the best method of escape from the present impasse. Two rival Unionist policies on finance are now before the country. Mr. Chamberlain's brother, Arthur Chamberlain, who is a singularly able speaker and administrator, has quarreled with the government on the question of temperance. He carries great weight, and so far has not been repudiated by his more famous brother. Arthur Chamberlain will carry his opposition to the government to the ballot box. The situation is interesting.

Lord Rosebery makes no sign. Between his followers and Mr. Chamberlain's there is no difference of opinion on matters of principle, yet they are divided by an artificial gulf. Only a touch is required to establish the great middle party. The chief, indeed the only obstacle, is the nature of the personal relations which are known to exist between Mr. Chamberlain and Lord Rosebery.

In London at the present time bridge stands supreme among fashionable games of chance. Roulette, baccarat, poker and whist are left out in the cold. The miseries that the game has caused are sad and many. The gambling of women and girls at bridge is one of its most painful features. Women play heavily and the misfortune, deception, lies and loss of honor resulting are causing widespread and irretrievable ruin to the sanity of English homes. Indeed, if the statements of those who know are to be believed the game of bridge is a curse.

LIPTON'S FARWELL.

Sir Thomas Tells Friends He Is Likely to Lift the Cup.

GREENOCK, SCOTLAND, May 26.—The corporation of Greenock gave a farewell banquet today to Sir Thomas Lipton. A distinguished company was present and much enthusiasm was manifested. The chairman, Provost Anderson, in toasting Sir Thomas, wished him every success. Sir Thomas, replying, said he was convinced the cup challenger was by far the best boat ever built on this side. He believed that if he brought back the cup he would bring with it the friendship of the American people.

Vice Commodore Sharman Crawford, one of the speakers, said the trials here had shown that the Shamrock I. was hopelessly outclassed by the challenger. Owing, however, to having to pull the latter to pieces and refit her after the ocean voyage it was necessary to send over the Shamrock I. so that it could be determined if the challenger had the same superiority after she had crossed the Atlantic.

RAILROADS WILL GET PLENTY OF FIGHT

CHICAGO, May 26.—(Special.)—"If the railroads want to fight, they will get more than they are looking for. Seven thousand men are waiting to strike and I couldn't stop them now myself." While the commercial world awaited today the result of the "defi" flung at the freight handlers by the managers of 24 railroads acting as a unit, Lawrence Curran, president of the Freight Handlers' union, summed up the labor situation as quoted above.

Police Take Whole Crowd.

When Policeman J. F. Toole attempted to arrest Michael Levo at Fifth avenue and Tunnel street last night, friends of the prisoner assailed the officer and urged Levo to escape. When the patrol wagon arrived Levo was trying to carry out the advice of his friends and the officers placed the whole party under arrest. At Central station they gave their names as Charles Solof, Joseph Quint, Morris Goldberg, Joseph Engels and E. Cramer.

GERMAN ENSIGN SENT TO PRISON FOR FOUR YEARS

Hussner Killed Artilleryman on Good Friday For Not Saluting Properly.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

BERLIN, May 26.—Naval Ensign Hussner, who, at Essen on Good Friday last, killed Artilleryman Hartman with his sword for not saluting him properly, was today sentenced to four years and one week's imprisonment, and to degradation. The state's attorney had moved that a sentence of six years be imposed.

The attention of Germany has been centered on the public court-martial of Hussner, which began today at Kiel, before five judges. Hussner's replies to the president's question were straightforward. He said that while regretting that his sword strokes killed the artilleryman he affirmed that he acted within the service instructions, and that he was obliged by honor to compel obedience.

"But," said the president, "you said you never drew your weapon without using it?"

"Yes," replied the prisoner. "It is so ordered in the regulations."

"You were seen loosening your sword before Hartman left your side," continued the president.

"Yes," the prisoner answered; "I thought of ——."

Here Hussner mentioned the name of an officer who, after having been struck by a private, was obliged to resign because he was unable to loosen his sword, and the private, who was not identified, ran away.

Hussner admitted that he became interested at the police station, after the killing of Hartman, in a discussion over the different classes of shoulder straps. The impression made by the prolonged examination of Hussner on the hearers was that his action was the result of the system of training on material which was dull, though passionate, and which affected a mind filled with exaggerated ideas of honor.

LEADER OF LITTLE BRIGANDS SHOOTS GIRL COMRADE WHO CRIED

Willie James, 10 Years Old, Enforces Discipline With Rifle When Darkness Brings Distress.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, May 26.—"I shot her because she cried," was the explanation of Willie James, 10 years old, before a magistrate at Somerville when he was arraigned on a charge of seriously injuring little Theresa Watson. He was held for the grand jury. The boy is a credit to his name, and if he isn't held in jail long enough his neighbors say he will rival the highwaymen who bore the same name.

Willie James, with several other children, including Theresa, formed a band of brigands, the intention being to scout the country for spoil. They went 12 miles from home the first day and were overtaken by darkness. It was then Theresa began crying. Willie, who was captain of the gang and carried a rifle, commanded her to cease. This, of course, she couldn't do, and the captain fired point blank into her stomach. She cried all the more and a second shot followed.

When the girl was found next morning she was all but dead. She was immediately taken to a hospital, where it was thought today she will not live.

MINDORO WHITE COLONY AN OBJECT OF SEARCH

Attempt Being Made to Verify Philippine Archipelago Tradition.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, May 26.—Recent Manila newspapers contain an account of an expedition that has gone into Mindoro, "ostensibly," one paper puts it, "to explore the country, but in reality to search for a white colony which it has long been claimed lives in the interior of the island." According to this same account, "numerous statements have been made by reliable persons, that the white colony exists and they declare that they have evidence to prove the same." They are characterized further as a roving band which does not remain in one place.

A previous expedition failed to penetrate the interior of Mindoro and was obliged to turn back.

Corporal Tanner and Sanford Pettibone of Pittsburgh Receive $100 Per Month.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, May 26.—Corporal James A. Tanner, whose pension has just been increased from $72 to $100 a month, is one of the seven soldiers who have received this increase within the last month. Until March 3 last, the rate of pension for the loss of both feet was $72 a month. Congress on that day increased the rate to $100 a month, making it the same as the pension for the loss of both hands, the highest pension given under existing laws.

Six other pensioners have within the last few days been granted an increase to $100 for the loss of both feet. They are: Lewis Stone, Wheaton, Illinois; Alfred Twigley, Columbus, Ky.; James G. Scott, Ypsilanti, Mich.; Benjamin F. Troy, Little River, Kansas; Sanford Pettibone, Pittsburgh, and Henry Haneeley, Cincinnati.

MILLION DOLLARS FOR A DAY'S WORK

That Amount Kuhn-Loeb-Speyer Syndicate Makes on P. R. R. Stock Issue.

WAS OVER-SUBSCRIBED

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau, Herald Building, Herald Square, NEW YORK, May 26.

The Kuhn-Loeb-Speyer syndicate received as commission for underwriting the $75,000,000 new Pennsylvania railroad stock something like $1,000,000. Or as a broker expressed it today, "one million for a day's work." The service, of course, included the arranging and management of the syndicate, and the brokers will receive in addition to this fee their share of the profits of the syndicate and the balance of the 2½ per cent commission paid by the company.

Subscriptions amounted to more than twice as much as the sum required. As a result of this subscribers received an allotment of only about 50 per cent, or a little less, of their subscriptions. The allotments were made today on that basis. After the brokers mentioned closed the subscription lists a large number of subscriptions were received too late to participate.

It was reported today that the managers of the Pennsylvania stock underwriting syndicate had invited many large brokerage firms in New York to subscribe. The circumstance was considered somewhat unusual. It was reported that some of those who had joined the syndicate had sold the old stock and bought the rights as a "hedge." The rights are selling around 2. The syndicate contract was reported to contain a clause giving the managers the right to buy stock for the account of the syndicate to the amount of not to exceed 10 per cent of the total amount of each underwritten, which would be $8,000,000, or 90,000 full shares.

In connection with the recovery in Pennsylvania, it was said that some very large individual subscriptions had been received under the writing syndicate for the new stock, one of them, it is alleged, being for $6,000,000 and another for $8,000,000. It was further asserted that the Standard Oil interests were represented by large amounts, which, if true, contradicts the report that these people are antagonizing the Pennsylvania management and are helping Mr. Gould in the Western Union fight.

THIN FOLKS MADE FAT.

Good, healthy flesh can only be gained by the use of the proper food, together with natural action of the digestive organs. Nine people out of 10, in order to weigh as much as they ought to and be perfectly healthy, should use Mi-o-na, the great flesh-forming food and digestion regulator. Weigh yourself before commencing to use these little tablets and see how your weight increases from week to week.

Mi-o-na does not contain a particle of pepsin, the basis of the ordinary dyspepsia remedy, and which never made a cure of dyspepsia. Mi-o-na has valuable flesh-forming properties, tones up and strengthens the digestive organs, helps digest the food eaten, and absolutely and permanently cures the worst forms of dyspepsia.

If you are not perfectly satisfied with the results from Mi-o-na Schilling Bros. Co., Penn and Frankstown avenues, will return your money without any questions. What other medicine is sold on this plan?

ROOSEVELT MADE TRIP THROUGH MINING CAMPS

SPOKANE, WASH., May 26.—President Roosevelt doubled back into Washington today from Northern Idaho. The greatest crowds ever gathered in Spokane greeted the president. One especially interesting feature of the president's visit took place at the site of the new Masonic temple. Here the procession halted for a moment. The president left the carriage and seizing a shovel threw the first spadeful of earth for the new building.
